GOP May Oppose Corporation Tax

Harriman Would Increase Levies $17,200,000; No Decision Reached

Albany, Feb. 17 (AP)—A Republican financial adviser hinted today that the GOP majorities in the Legislature might oppose Gov. Harriman's request for corporation tax increases amounting to $17,200,000.

But Walter J. Mahoney, Republican majority leader of the Senate, told a reporter that no final decision had been reached on the question.

In his record-smashing $1,345,200,000 for 1955-56, the Democratic governor proposed boosting the corporation franchise tax by nine per cent, to produce an estimated 12 million dollars in annual revenue.

HE ALSO RECOMMENDED cutting out the corporations' privilege of deducting previous state taxes paid from a current year's tax return. That would produce an estimated five million in revenues.

The corporation tax proposals were criticized bitterly yesterday at a public hearing on the budget, held by the Senate Finance and Assembly Ways and Means Committees. About 300 persons attended and approximately 30 testified.

A GOP fiscal aide, who did not wish to be identified, commented today that those objections well might influence Republican thinking toward rejection of the corporation tax proposals.

WILLIAM JOYCE, secretary-treasurer of the Manufacturers' Assn. of Jamestown, made the remark that prompted the financial advisers comment. Joyce said that businesses would flee the state if there were "any further increases in the corporation franchise tax and the unincorporated business tax."

Harriman also has proposed increasing the unincorporated business tax by 33⅓ per cent. However, Republican leaders have abandoned hope of blocking that recommendation.

Joyce said 30 industrial companies had left the Jamestown area in the last 20 years. He called Harriman's business tax proposals "disgusting, depressing and alarming."

IN OTHER developments yesterday:

1. Sen. Francis J. Mahoney of Manhattan, minority leader of his house, said that delay in Senate confirmation of Harriman's nomination of Isador Lubin as state industrial commissioner was "undue, unnecessary and unreasonable."

2. The State Commission against discrimination declared in its annual report that there was "general improvement in the status of the individual" in the state because of the state law prohibiting racial or religious discrimination in employment and places of public accommodation.

LUBIN'S NOMINATION was sent to the Senate early last month. Since then confirmation has been held up by the GOP-controlled Senate Finance Committee, headed by Sen. Austin W. Erwin of Geneseo.

Francis Mahoney declared in a radio interview (WOKO, Albany) that the committee, had had ample time to check Lubin's background. He described the delay to "politics" by the Republicans and said Erwin was "hoping against hope" that something would turn up against Lubin.

The Anti-Discrimination Commission declared the anti-bias law had become a "social fixture in New York state."

It declared that "historic changes" in employment practices and policies had been effected through conciliation agreements, public hearings and court procedures since enactment of the law in 1945.

Dies of Heart Attack

Newburgh, Feb. 17 (AP)—Sgt. Morris Mieschberge, in charge of the New Windsor state police unit near here, died of a heart attack this morning at his home in Cornwall. State police had no further information immediately available.

Police Ask ScholzData On Thefts

Unsolved Cases Are Brought Up

HERMAN SCHOLZ

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—Police say frail, 50-year-old Herman Scholz, who reportedly has "fingered" the possible killers in the Serge Rubinstein case, is being questioned about two unsolved bank robberies.

Scholz, picked up Tuesday, told how his own plan to kidnap the 46-year-old Rubinstein for ransom was carried out without him and resulted in a "bungled" job that resulted in the strangle-slaying of the playboy-financier.

The quiet, mild-mannered Scholz, not quite five feet tall, has been a limousine-for-hire driver living an apparently sedate life in Whitestone, Queens, for the past 15 years.

BUT IN ADDITION TO the blood-and-thunder story he told police, and the discovery that he has an arrest record dating back to 1923, authorities found a small arsenal in his home—assertedly cached against the day he hoped to become a bigtime bank robber.

Scholz is being held in $25,000 bail as a witness in the Rubinstein murder—the high bail set to keep him in custody and protect him from possible harm by underworld mobsters.

The Russian-born Rubinstein, judged to have been worth about 10 million dollars, was slain Jan. 27 in the bedroom of his Fifth avenue mansion. His pajama-clad body had been trussed with

Wicks Asks Cut In Truck Fee

Albany, Feb. 17 (AP)—Two Republican lawmakers have called for a $3-per-ton cut in the annual registration fee for farm trucks.

Bills introduced yesterday by Sen. Arthur Wicks of Kingston and Assemblyman Edwyn E. Mason of Delaware county also would allow one person to register as many of such vehicles as he wished, instead of three as under present law.

The measures propose to redefine agricultural trucks to include all trucks used in farm work, rather than those having a maximum gross weight of 18,000 pounds or less.

Gordon Sentenced To State Prison

Herbert E. Gordon, 36, of Bruyn avenue who entered a plea of guilty Monday to manslaughter, second degree, for the death of Otis Adams, 55, of Route 28, was sentenced to a term of from 2 to 4 years at hard labor in Clinton State Prison today by County Judge John M. Cashin. Credit was allowed for the time already served in jail.

Gordon was represented by Charles Saccoman, who had been assigned as defense counsel.

GORDON, orginally indicted for manslaughter, first degree, was permitted to plead to the lesser charge on consent of District Attorney St. John. It was alleged Gordon and his wife along with Adams had been on a drinking party. During the evening Gordon and Adams became involved in a dispute and Gordon allegedly struck Adams on the head and face with a bottle inflicting injuries. Adams' body was later discovered on the former Summer street dump and Gordon charged with the death. The incident took place last October.

Because of the circumstances surrounding the death of Adams, Judge Cashin and District Attorney St. John accepted the plea of second degree manslaughter.

More Judgeships Urged for State

Albany, Feb. 17 (AP)—A study commission today urged creation of 21 new state Supreme Court judgeships to help reduce delay in bringing cases to trial.

The temporary State Commission on the Courts, headed by Harrison Tweed of New York city, recommended in a final report to Gov. Harriman and the Legislature that five posts be created upstate and 16 in New York city and on Long Island.

A deal is reported to be in the works to divide the seats into 10 places for Democrats and 11 for Republicans. Under the proposal, the Democrats would get six New York city posts, two on Long Island and two upstate. Republicans would get the rest.

All the seats would be filled by the voters at a general election. However, if the deal were agreed upon, each party would endorse the other's candidates to assure their election according to plan.

The commission also proposed:

Setting up an executive agency for the entire state court system, to give the courts a businesslike administration.

Establishing a judicial conference of judges from the principal courts, to oversee court administration.

Creation of a special "youth

Electrol Plans 'Family Day'

Electrol Incorporated, 85 Grand street, announced today it will hold "Family Day" Saturday from 2:30 to about 4 p. m.

Members of employes' families are invited to tour the plant. Details of production facilities and operations will be explained to the visitors by plant personnel. Foreman and representatives of management will be posted at various points in the building to assist in guidance, and a short talk will be given by a spokesman for management. Refreshments will be served.

Dulles Expects Red Aid

Sees Moscow Shift As Tension Ease

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles says a power struggle in Moscow eventually may produce Russian leaders with whom the United States can make "practical agreements" to ease world tensions.

Dulles says also the Formosa crisis can be settled if Red China will renounce the use of force to capture Nationalist-held islands.

Diplomats noted that the secretary's speech last night to the Foreign Policy Association in New York, a condensed version of which was carried nationwide by radio and television, was calm and peaceful in tone but firm against spread of communism in any important new areas of Asia.

DULLES APPARENTLY took this tone deliberately in contrast to recent warlike speeches by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Red Chinese Foreign Minister Chou En-lai. Molotov denounced the United States, Chou threatened, as Dulles put it, to use "all the force at his command" to capture Formosa.

As for the Formosa problem, Dulles said the United States "has no commitment and no purpose" to defend such islands as the Quemoys and Matsus "as such." But he made clear that it might well fight over Quemoy and Matsu if any Communist attack on them was aimed at the conquest of Chiank Kai-shek's Formosa.

Dulles appealed to the Chinese Reds to reconsider a United Nations Security Council bill to discuss a Formosa cease-fire.

"IT IS HARDLY to be expected," Dulles said, "that the Chinese Communists will renounce their ambitions. However, might they not denounce their efforts to realize their goals by force?"

Senatorial reaction was mixed. "A very good presentation," said Sen. George (D.-Ga.), Foreign Relations Committee chairman. Sen. Morse (Ind.-Ore.), a critic of administration Formosa policy, said the speech "contained some doubletalk." Sen. Humphrey (D.-Minn.) voiced pleasure that Dulles said he planned to work through the UN for a cease-fire.

Discussing the Russian situation, Dulles said a distinction must always be made between

Gene Autry Show Coming for Lions On March 14 Date

The hero of the young fry, Gene Autry, and his entourage will be in Kingston for two shows at the Kate Walton Field House on Monday, March 14, under the sponsorship of the Kingston Lions Club.

This was announced today by Andrew J. Murphy 3d, superintendent of recreation for the city, who is publicity chairman of the Lions committee.

AUTRY, RADIO and television favorite of the cap pistol brigade, will be accompanied by his riding companions, Annie Oakley and Pat Buttram, along with other featured entertainers.

And, of course, there will be Gene's horses, Champion and Little Champ.

The show coming for the Lions is the same, Murphy said, that thrilled more than a million enthusiastic people last winter in 45 cities of the United States and Canada.

RICHARD KALISH, of the Kingston Board of Education, heading the Lions committee on show arrangements, said that the entire Melody Ranch Gang

Bennett Says Macy Did Not Direct Him To Give Copy of Letter to Any Democrats

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—John Gordon Bennett of Rochester, N. Y., a Republican and a real estate man, has testified he believes he took a photostat of the "Hanley letter" to a talk with the Democratic state chairman and Demrocatic campaign manager in 1950.

Bennett says, however, that former Republican Congressman W. Kingsland Macy "at no time told me to give a copy of the letter to the Democrats."

Handling of copies of the letter—explosive issue in the 1950 state political campaign—was detailed as Bennett testified as a defense witness yesterday in Macy's suit against the New York World-Telegram and Sun for $250,000 damages for alleged libel.

Summations in the suit start late today. Both sides rested their cases yesterday and State Supreme Court Justice Aron Steuer, who is hearing the case with a jury, denied a defense motion to dismiss the case.

Macy charges the World-Telegram and Sun stated falsely in an article that he sought to use the "Hanley letter" to further personal aspirations for the 1950 GOP U. S. Senate nomination. The newspaper contends the article was true.

Counsel for the newspaper has said that Macy hoped to use the letter to get the gubernatorial nomination for Joe R. Hanley, then lieutenant governor, leaving the senatorial nomination open for Macy.

A letter over Hanley's name and addressed to Macy said in part: "Today I had a conference with the governor (Thomas E. Dewey). Definite propositions were made to me. If I will consent to take the nomination for the United States Senate, I am definitely assured of being able to clean up my financial obligations in 90 days."

Dewey decided to run again. Hanley stepped aside as a gubernatorial aspirant and ran, instead, for the U. S. Senate. Hanley lost and Dewey won.

Bennett was not permitted to testify yesterday concerning the mystery of how the Democrats got hold of a copy of the letter which they had used in the campaign. The judge sustained an objection that details of Bennett's talk with the Democrats were irrelevant to the libel suit.

Bennett was asked by a newsman outside the court room if 't

County Building Is Under Consideration

SITE FOR 1956 REPUBLICAN CONVENTION—San Francisco's Cow Palace, which seats 18,000 persons, was chosen Wednesday as the site for the 1956 Republican Party presidential nominating convention. It is located seven miles south of the city. The Cow Palace, shown here in 1946, was unanimous choice of the Republican National Committee's seven-member subcommittee subject to ratification by the full committee which meets today, but leaders said his was only a formality. Chicago has been chosen by the Democrats for their '56 convention. (AP Wirephoto)

Supervisor Review Is Authorized

May Be Located Near Infirmary

Crowded conditions and inadequate facilities in many of the county departments where present quarters have long been outgrown prompted action on the part of the Ulster county board of supervisors Wednesday evening to take action which may result in the erection of a county building where many of the far flung departments may be housed under one roof.

Chairman Charles Relyea named on a committee to make a study of this need and to report back to the board "with recommendations" Supervisors McHugh, Elliott, Phinney, Williams and Albrecht.

THE COMMITTEE is authorized by resolution to make a study of needs and costs and then report back to the full board.

Several years ago plans for a central county building were prepared, the former Eagle hotel property on Main street was acquired and a considerable sum of money was placed in a postwar building fund with the view of erection of a county building to house the numerous departments. However a great portion of that fund was used when the Tumor Clinic was built and there remains but a very small portion of the fund today.

At the time the original plan was devised it called for erection of a new building on Main and Fair streets to replace the inadequate county clerk's office building, the adjoining building on Main street which house the Motor Vehicle Bureau office and other offices as well as the welfare building on Fair street.

Also included in the plan was offices for the health department which later was housed in the former Loughran home on Main street.

Recently since the county has taken over the former City Home on Flatbush avenue, which is surrounded by a considerable acreage, a plan has been discussed to erect on that property a building to house certain of the county departments, such as the health, welfare and other departments which need not be centered in more accessable locations and dispose of the more valuable property in the business area. By returning this property to the city tax roll and making use of the eleven acres surrounding the Flatbush Infirmary the city tax roll would benefit to a major extent.

ONE OFFICIAL of the county in speaking of this plan last evening said it would also be possible to have at the Flatbush avenue site additional rooms for conferences and board meetings which now frequently overcrowd the county house. By eliminating certain of the offices which now crowd the court house additional room would be available for the courts. Highway offices, board of elections and other departments which have long outgrown their space in the John street county building could also be transferred to the new building, it was pointed out.

For several years the county clerk's office has been badly crowded, space for filing official papers has been lacking even though balconies have been erected in the vaults to care for additional records. Each year numerous departments seek additional space or appropriations from the board of supervisors to relieve crowded conditions.

A CONTRACT was awarded the Standard Bridge Company of Albany for repairs and strengthening of the Canal street bridge in Ellenville at a cost of $23,886. The only other bid was from Shanahan Bridge Company of Ellenville for $28,650.

Notice was given the board that the Department of Public Works of the State of New York would no longer need the portion of the "fair grounds quarry" which has been under lease for some years and that the state would surrender that lease as of March 31, 1955. The state recently erected and opened a large garage and office building off Hurley avenue.

THE ANNUAL REPORT of the county treasurer was received and filed and is open to inspection. Also filed was the annual reports of the Department of Public Welfare, the Farm Bureau, the Pistol Permit

Highland Man Dies of Injuries

Lewis E. Chidgey, 55, of Grove street, Highland, died at 12:40 a. m. today at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, from injuries which he suffered last evening when the Chevrolet car he was operating north on Route 9-W a mile north of Marlborough was in collision with a tractor-trailer on the Rosoff hill.

Mrs. Blanche Chidgey, 55, his wife, is in very serious condition at St. Luke's Hospital.

The accident is being investigated by State Police from the Highland station and also District Attorney Howard C. St. John. No criminal charge has been made.

THE ACCIDENT happened at 10:15 o'clock Wednesday evening during a heavy snowstorm. Chidgey and his wife were traveling north on Route 9-W and a tractor-trailer owned and operated by Marvin Burrell, 38, of Auburn was en route south when the tractor-trailer skidded on the down grade and jackknifed, striking the north bound car, state police reported.

Due to the serious condition of both the occupants of the passenger car no statement was taken from them.

CHIDGEY RESIDED on Grove street, Highland, and was employed as a bus driver for the Mountain View Coach Company.

Mrs. Chidgey suffered lacerations of the forehead, fractured right pelvis bone, possible fracture of the skull, concussion and other injuries. Her condition at St. Luke's Hospital is reported as very critical.

According to the investigation by the state police the Chevrolet car was shoved off the east of the roadway when the tractor-trailer jack-knifed and skidded into the north bound car.

Coroner Francis McCardle was

Three Selections Quit Cabinet

Paris, Feb. 17 (AP)—Christian Pineau completed a proposed government lineup early today but within a few hours three of his 36 nominees withdrew at their party's request. All were followers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

Their action sent Pineau scurrying for replacements. He had hoped to ask the National Assembly tomorrow to approve his cabinet and confirm him as the nation's first Socialist premier since 1947.

THOSE WHO WITHDREW were Edward Corniglion-Molinier, who had been named to the justice ministry; Pierre Ferri, named to the ministry of posts, telephone and telegraph, and Andre Gaubert, secretary of state for commerce.

All are members of the Republican Union for Social Action (URAS).

Two Gaullists chose to stay in Pineau's government—Maurice Lemaire, minister for reconstruction, and Diomede Catroux, secretary of state for air. Both held the same positions in Pierre Mendes-France's government.

THE WITHDRAWALS left the other 15 ministries divided this way among five parties: So-

Convention Selection Is Ratified

RepublicanGroup Acts Unanimously

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Republican National Committee today unanimously ratified the selection of San Francisco as the site for the GOP national convention in 1956. Approval was by a voice vote.

The committee approved a resolution submitted by a site subcommittee calling for convening of the convention in the huge Cow Palace in the west coast city the week beginning Aug. 20, 1956.

The action came after a brief discussion during which committeemen from Pennsylvania and Illinois expressed regret that the party could not meet in Philadelphia or Chicago, other main contenders for the host city.

The Democrats have picked Chicago for their 1956 convention, starting either July 23 or Aug. 13.

GOP National Chairman Leonard Hall headed the GOP site subcommittee which announced yesterday it would recommend

100 Women Die In Raging Blaze

Yokohoma, Japan, Feb. 17 (AP)—About 100 aged women died in flaming agony today when a flash fire burned a Roman Catholic Old Ladies' Home into a 30-minute inferno befo - dawn.

There were only 46 survivors, police said. Nearly all were burned or injured in jumps from the second floor of their two-story wooden dormitory. Several were in critical condition.

"I could do nothing," a survivor cried. "I can hear their screams, 'Hot! . . . Hot! . . . Help . . . Help!"

The inmates were mainly pitiful old Japanese women without families. Their ages ranged from 60 to 96.

THE HOME, a converted Japanese army barracks, was part of the Convent of the Garden of Our Lady, belonging to the Francisco Missionaries of Mary, an international Catholic order. The Mother Superior, a French

Senate Expected to Vote Substantial Pay Raise

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—Leaders predicted today the Senate will follow the House lead in voting a substantial pay boost for members of Congress and federal judges.

The House voted 283-118 yesterday to give the 96 senators and 435 representatives a $10,000 annual boost to $25,000. Comparable raises are included for the vice-president, the House speaker, all federal judges and U. S. attorneys.

Sen. Clements (D.-Ky.), acting majority leader, said the Senate probably will take up its version of the pay raise next week.

THE BILL APPROVED by a heavy majority in the Senate Judiciary Committee would give members of Congress a $7,500 increase to $22,500.

Sen. Kefauver (D.-Tenn.), who headed a subcommittee which conducted hearings on the question, told a reporter today he believes the Senate will pass its bill "by a substantial margin."

He said "at the moment" his plan is to stick to the Senate bill, "then work out our differences in conference."

Sen. George (D.-Ga.), dean of the Senate and its president pro tem, and Sen. Bridges (R.-N. H.), senior Republican member, support the raise to $22,500.

However, one senator who has backed a pay boost said in an interview today his mail is running heavily against it and that, while visiting in his state last week, he found people "bitter about it. This senator, asking not to be named, indicated he may vote "no."

IN ANY EVENT, Senate rules, unlike those of the House, permit unlimited debate and the Committee to Act in Week On Eisenhower Tax Idea

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—Chairman Cooper (D.-Tenn.) said today the House Ways and Means Committee will act next week on President Eisenhower's request to postpone about three billion dollars in scheduled tax cuts.

The committee is expected to approve by a big margin, possibly on Monday or Wednesday, Eisenhower's recommendation for a one-year postponement of these tax cuts now set automatically for April 1:

(1) From 52 to 47 per cent in the corporation income tax rate, amounting to about two billion dollars annually; and (2) about one billion dollars in excise tax rates on automobiles, cigarettes, liquor, gasoline, beer and wine.

Little opposition to the extension of present rates has been voiced either in the House or Senate.

Meanwhile, it was reliably reported, key Democrats planned a strategy huddle Saturday to consider two questions likely to be much more explosive:

1. A proposal by some ways and means members for a drive now to cut individual income taxes for everybody.

2. A move by others to seek repeal of a controversial tax cut on income from dividends, included in last year's Republican-sponsored general tax revision bill.

Some committee members have suggested one or both of these proposals might be tacked

Duck That Dog!

Seattle (AP)—George is a duck who apparently think he's a dog. He joined the David Dugan family last summer. Where he came from, they do not know. And Smokey, the Dugan Spaniel, possibly flattered at his success in winning friends and influencing mallards, is willing to go along with the duck's delusion. They pal around together, even teaming up to chase cats and cars. There is a complication, though. "They fight like everything at meal time," Mrs. Dugan explains. "George likes meat."

Thankless Giver

Chicago (AP)—Leonard Anderson, 78, says giving away money is a thankless job. He handles unclaimed equities for a life insurance company. His detective-like chore is to track down people who have money coming from the firm and don't know it. He has turned up 465 such people and paid them amounts from 87 cents to $200. Only about five per cent have bothered to thank him for his trouble, he says.

Army World Tour

Pittsburgh (AP)—Should Mrs. Marie Ruckman coin the slogan "Marry an American Soldier and See the World" she would not be blamed. Mrs. Ruckman, an Italian, met her husband, Chief Warrant Officer Albert Ruckman, when he was stationed in Italy in 1944. They were married a year later. In 1945 the couple came to America, where their first child was born. Shortly afterwards Ruckman was transferred to Germany where the couple became parents again. Ruckman was ordered to Japan a short time ago. En route to join him, his wife stopped off in Pittsburgh, was naturalized as an American citizen and promptly left with her children to join her husband in the Far East.

Schwartz Takes Self Out of Trial

Poughkeepsie, Feb. 17 (AP)—Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz yesterday disqualified himself for the second degree murder trial of Mrs. Dorothy Bernice Yankouski.

Schwartz, who is likely to be a witness in the trial, named in his place County Surrogate W. Vincent Grady.

The case is expected to go to trial March 7.

Mrs. Yankouski, 29-year-old Hyde Park mother, is accused of shooting to death her husband Victor, 28, last Dec. 30. She claims he had threatened to kill her and their children.

On Monday the defense was denied a change of venue, sought on grounds that Schwartz was prejudiced and was expected to be a witness.

HE IS EXPECTED to be called to testify concerning defense allegations that Mrs. Yankouski was denied her rights to consult an attorney.

Schwartz turned down her attorney's request for a Habeas Corpus writ to talk to her while the district attorney was questioning her.

Schwartz said in his decision to withdraw that if called as a witness he would have to rule upon his own availability as a witness and the admissibility of his own testimony, and he therefore decided to disqualify himself.

Goes to Conference

S. Burrell Schwarzwaelder, Kingston's superintendent of buildings, was a participant in a conference on regulations for non-residential building conducted by the New York State Building Code Commission in New York city today. The meeting, held in the Hotel New Yorker, was attended by 80 municipal officials from every part of the state. Brig. Gen. Edward J. McGrew, Jr., commission chairman, told the conference that changes in industrial building design call for new and less restrictive regulations than found in older codes covering this type of construction.

Wrong Day, Right Date

An error in the annual banquet notice mailed to members of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce yesterday caused many calls to be received. The correct date of the banquet is March 1 as stated in the notice, but the day is Tuesday and not Monday. Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the chamber, who helped prepare the notice, asked that this correction be published. It was also suggested that reservations be made early to assist the committee in making final arrangements.

To Visit Son Taking Primary Pilot Training

LT. JOSEPH F. KOENIG

Marianna, Fla.—Showing hospitality at its southern best, a free trip to Florida is in store for 40 eastern businessmen whose sons are taking primary pilot training at Graham Air Base near here.

The three-day inspection visit is the unexpected gift of the base's civilian operator, William J. Graham, who has chartered a National Airlines Convair to bring New York, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey fathers nonstop from Newark to the Florida base.

INCLUDED IN the group leaving the Newark Airport on Thursday, February 24, will be Joseph J. Koenig, 116 Andrew street. His son, 2/Lt. Joseph F. Koenig, is a student officer here and will be part of a special honor guard meeting the fathers with full "VIP treatment" when the aircraft touches down on the Graham flight line that afternoon.

Lending an official stamp to the all-out welcome will be some of the highest ranking representatives from the USAF and Florida. Governor LeRoy Collins, who last week wrote personal letters of welcome-to-the-Citrus-State to each father, will be at the runway in a greeting party that also includes: Lt. General Charles T. Myers, commander of Air Training Command; Maj. General G. P. Disosway, Flying Training Air Force commander, and Brig. General C. L. Brothers, Air Training Command surgeon.

AFTER AN AFTERNOON visit with his son on arrival, each father will be guest of honor at a father-son social event Thursday evening. They will be received by the three visiting generals, their aides, the governor, and base officials. Friday Koenig will watch his son take off and land in a T-6 Texan trainer. Saturday morning the visiting dads will be honorary members of a reviewing party of base officers during an inspection parade of the entire student corps. The remainder of Saturday and Sunday morning will be left up to the individual wishes of the guests and their sons.

A Dog's Life

Dallas, Tex. (AP)—There's a hermit dog who has lost his master and prefers living alone in a big vacant lot near a busy Dallas street. Kind-hearted people bring horsemeat and leave it and Will Caruth even built a doghouse for him. But somebody stole the doghouse. Home builder Caruth had his men make another, saying "as long as people want to feed him, I can furnish him a place to sleep."

Is Just Home Lover

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—Gunner's Might of Land Fall, blue ribbons and all, is just a home lover after all. The Labrador retriever, best male of his breed at the Westminster Kennel Club Dog Show in Madison Square Garden on Monday, slipped away on Tuesday from an ASPCA shelter. He had been placed there by his owner, Rear Adm. C. L. Andrews (ret.) Newport, R. I. Searchers yesterday found the valuable dog loitering on Columbus avenue near 108th street. Gunner's Might etc. definitely was not enjoying freedom. He was trembling and seemed bewildered by the roar of traffic. ASPCA officials can't swear to it, but when Gunner's Might (etc.) was put back in his kennel, they heard something like a sigh—of relief.

Financial Mystery

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP)—A man was selling cigarettes on the streets for 20 cents a pack—five under the going rate—and a detective asked him where he got them. "I put quarters in a cigarette machine," the man replied. After questioning him at city jail, Detective Chief Bernard Waggoner said he couldn't find where the smokes came from but observed "If he can make money by buying them for a quarter and selling them for 20 cents, he ought to be in Washington.

MUTUAL UNDERSTANDING

Correspondents traveling about Europe and Asia keep talking about the continuing current of anti-American feeling that exists in many places. We would be foolish if we were not disturbed at this.

Basically the catalogue of complaints is all too familiar. We're imperialistic, our policies are confused, we're rattling the sword, we're insensitive to the real needs of other nations, we won't take advice, we're brash and inexperienced, and so on.

Much of the criticism is unfair, but not all of it. And just because we know a good deal is unsound, we must not fail to search out and seek to meet the reasonable complaints. We are not the perfect people some congressmen like to say we are. Any adult American knows we have our shortcomings, that we have made many mistakes, and will make more.

Still, we are not as bad as some unhappy foreigners would paint us. Their tendency to overstress our failings, and even to manufacture some, is gravely puzzling unless we look hard at these peoples' history and their current difficulties.

Some of these nations once were great leaders in their own right. They cannot help feeling resentment at the young America which now has become world leader. Prodded by envy, bitter at their lost power and status, they assail what seems to them the symbol of their troubles, though it be a country avowedly their friend and helper.

Other nations never have had power and have either just cast off or are trying to cast off the yoke of outside rule. As the colonial grip on them has weakened, they have been chagrined to learn they are moving into a tense world where two colossi—Russia and the United States—stand at the head of great rival forces contending for dominance.

They can see America only as the friend of the colonial powers. They are unimpressed by argument that the Communist conqueror is a greater threat than any they ever knew.

Moreover, they have not found the uses of their long-sought freedom so easy as they may have imagined. Confronted by today's harsh realities, they have been plagued by frustrations and defeats. As most men do—especially including Americans—they have sought a scapegoat. The United States, rich friend of the hated colonial overlord, was the logical choice: we are to blame for all their ills.

As France worries more about her ancient despoiler, Germany, so the lands of Asia can find scant room for fear of a new enemy in minds crowded with the old colonial hatreds.

We are loved even less because we, having been burned twice in great wars, are alert this time to the menace to peace, and are pressing these peoples to join old enemies—whom they know firsthand—to stand against a new enemy whom they know only secondhand.

In all this they are showing themselves to be terribly human. Probably these attitudes will change only with the long passage of time. All we can do to assist the change is try unflaggingly to show these peoples what we really are, and extend to them more understanding and more generosity of spirit than they seem willing to offer us in return.

Life could always be worse. If you don't believe it listen to some of the troubles the people on the soap operas have year after year.

The Chinese Communists are always ready to negotiate—on their own terms. They refused the invitation to come to the United Nations to talk about a cease-fire with the Nationalists. They said they would accept the invitation if the Chinese Nationalists were excluded from discussions and if the proposal debated were the Russian one calling for withdrawal of all American forces in the Formosa area. In short they will talk about a cease-fire if Formosa and all the islands which surround it are surrendered first. They will stop firing when there is no one left to fire at.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

INDIA AND FORMOSA

In the great welter of news from all parts of the world, items are missed which are of tremendous importance. This is one I missed.

On December 4, 1954, it was reported by the (Exchange) Telegraph from Delhi that India had a plan to neutralize Formosa. The report said that Prime Minister Nehru of India was seeking diplomatic reactions to a proposal that Chiang Kai-shek be removed and that Formosa be taken over by an international commission of neutral powers.

"The proposal carries an offer by India to serve on the commission and provide custodian troops for an agreed period, possibly of from 3 to 5 years. The Indian plan calls for a plebiscite at the end of that period to decide whether Formosa should be handed over to Communist China or remain under the administration of a neutral commission.

"The (Exchange) Telegraph correspondent says India has reason to believe that Communist China is favorably disposed to the plan provided that Britain and America are not represented on the proposed commission."

It is not known what has become of this proposal. In British circles it is reported that Nehru has had a change of heart and is no longer as pro-Communist China as he formerly was. At any rate, the suggestion that a neutral commission consisting of India, Poland and Sweden take over Formosa has been bandied about. It is interesting that, as this suggestion goes, the Soviet Universal State has one representative on it, Poland, but the United States has none. Yet the United States is the principal factor in the Formosa situation, more important than Chiang Kai-shek and his government who now are creatures of and dependent upon the United States.

If Indian troops occupy Formosa what is to become of Chiang Kai-shek's army there? Is there to be a war between Indian troops and Nationalist troops? How is Chiang Kai-shek to be removed? Will they carry him out of his office the way Sewell Avery was? Will they put him in a bamboo cage and ship him to Chou En-lai and Mao Tze-tung?

What will happen in Formosa while the Indians are removing Chiang Kai-shek? My guess is that if anybody tried it, there would be such a massacre as has never before been witnessed. Again, the racial question will arise. Whereas to many Americans and Europeans all the peoples of Asia are alike, to a Chinese, a Hindu is a very different kind of person and one not favorably thought of. And it is also true vice versa.

There is another point here: If the Nehru idea were to be considered seriously, what would become of the treaty just ratified by the Senate between the United States and Formosa? Does not that Treaty obligate the United States to defend Chiang Kai-shek and his government? Would the United States have to go to war with India over Nehru's proposal?

In a word, here is another confusing factor in an already chaotic situation that could lead to war. Nehru may have changed his mind about all this, as the British say he has, but the fact that he could entertain this notion as recently as last December indicates that important statesmen felt free to devise means to eliminate the United States from the Western Pacific. For that is what the Nehru proposal in essence meant.

If Nehru has changed his mind, it is only because Communist China is growing so strong that it is frightening its friends. In the Soviet Universal State, whatever progress has been made in territorial expansion since 1949 has been made by Red China and not by Soviet Russia. This cannot have gone unnoticed in the Kremlin.

It was no accident that the Indian government discovered maps issued by the Red Chinese government marking parts of India as Chinese. This is the ancient Chien Lung line, the farthest progress that the Manchu conquerors made in their approach to India. The map includes Nepal, Assam, Bhutan and a corner of Kashmir as Chinese. Neither Nehru nor the Kremlin could have been happy about those maps which were indicative of Red China's imperialistic thinking. This discovery may have helped Nehru change his mind about Formosa. But whatever his opinion may be on the subject, he has not yet indicated that he is averse to Indian troops occupying Formosa and removing Chiang Kai-shek.

That Body of Yours

THE WORK OF REHABILITATION

During and after World War 2, physicians found that there was much to be done to restore injured and ill patients to their best possible physical condition. This was called rehabilitation and it was to be accomplished by medical, surgical and psychiatric means. Although the number of rehabilitation centers is increasing, they are still woefully inadequate to meet the national needs.

While the exact number of disabled persons in the United States who need rehabilitation services is not known, there is sufficient evidence that the number is in the millions. The average age of our population is increasing and disabilities from chronic disease and injury are becoming so great in number that the economic burden of public dependency will be overwhelming.

One of the great problems confronting the establishment of rehabilitation centers is, of course, their cost. Severe disabilities usually result in depleted funds even before rehabilitation is started, in which case only a few can afford it. The Veterans Administration, the Federal Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, and such agencies as the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults are tremendously helpful but these organizations can buy only a small percentage of the total need.

The President of the United States is recommending that the annual Federal investment in rehabilitation be increased from the present $23,000,000 to $60,000,000 by 1959. Funds will be made available to the individual states if they, in turn, match the amount granted. The funds are to be used to assist states in establishing rehabilitation facilities, diagnostic and treatment centers, chronic illness hospitals, and nursing homes. "This may be a stimulating and helpful shot in the arm for rehabilitation; however, if Uncle Sam is going to assume a major role in the rehabilitation of the millions of handicaped, the job will soon become so tremendous that the taxpayer will surely resist."

Actually, financial rescources for establishing rehabilitation services are available in every community but first there must be a comprehensive survey of the community needs along these lines. Once the needs are known and a sound plan of operation is set up, any approach for funds will likely be successful. A few sources of funds include: service clubs, welfare foundations, unions, community chests, legacies, and gifts from wealthy individuals. If the leaders in a community are convinced of the need for rehabilitation facilities, half the battle is won.

And Then There Were Two

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA) — Fears that free, southern Viet Nam will sooner or later fall into the hands of the Communists have been quieted somewhat by the return to Washington of Gen. J. Lawton Collins, President Eisenhower's personal ambassador.

The increased tension over Formosa is not expected to have any effect on Indo-China, but the situation there is still touch-and-go. There is uncertainty as to how the French will end up in their effort to retain their interests in southern Viet Nam and at the same time maintain commercial relations with northern, Communist Viet Minh. There is almost a complete lack of accurate information on what goes on in the northern area.

Nothing is at all firm on the 1956 elections called for by the Geneva cease-fire agreement, to settle the future of the country. There is no definition of who can vote or what for. It is entirely possible that northern and southern areas may vote on entirely different questions.

Or there may be no elections at all, as in Korea and Germany.

Population estimates of 13 million people in the north and 12 million in the south are not considered reliable.

ALSO, THE FLIGHT OF OVER 500,000 refugees from Communist Viet Minh to free Viet Nam has altered the population balance. The number of refugees may reach 800,000. All of them have seen Communist control first hand. They are the best possible evidence to make the people vote against Communism in any free election.

The number of natives from former Communist-controlled areas in southern Viet Nam who have requested resettlement in northern Viet Minh territory is now said to be only 15.

The United States is having to finance resettlement of refugees in the south. Over $28 million has already been allocated by Foreign Operations Administration for this purpose.

What gives most encouragement to the American point of view is apparent acceptance of an agreement that the Viet Nam army will be trained by some 350 U. S. officers in the MAG, or Military Assistance Group under Lt. Gen. John Wilson (Iron Mike) O'Daniel. General Collins is expected to take back to Indo-China a go-ahead on this program.

THE VIET NAM GOVERNMENT itself has proposed a reduction of its army from the 217,000 of Jan. 1 to about half this number. This force would be supplemented by four French divisions. Gen. Paul Ely of France would be in command of both forces and the training would be under his direction.

The U. S. MAG would have to use some French and possibly Filipino instructors. What is planned is a force like the Philippine Constabulary which, under President Magsaysay, so effectively crushed the Hukbalahap Communists in the Philippine islands.

There is a surplus of military equipment left over from fighting days in Indo-China. Additional U. S. costs for military assistance are therefore estimated in reduced amounts. Economic aid is another story. It will be required in volume.

Unfortunately there is no strong leader like President Magsaysay to lead the new southern Viet Nam state. Emperor Bao Dai is still regarded as a figurehead with no following, and better for his country while in France than at home.

NGO DIHN DIEM, Viet Namese premier, is a shy little scholar who does not know how to sell himself to his people, but is said to be learning. He has closed down the gambling houses which were the curse of the country. They were run by the two religious sects that also control the brothels. The premier has not yet reformed his people.

The government now has its own national bank and controls its foreign trade. It has a land reform program. This involves suspension of taxes for three years. There is no rent the first year, quarter rent the second, half rent the third with an option for the tenants to become landowners.

It is regarded as impossible for the southern area to raise larger forces than the north. If the south maintains 10 divisions with French and American aid, the north will have 20.

Main reliance for southern Viet Nam defense depends, of course, upon the Manila pact countries. If they mean business, there is believed to be a long chance that a free Viet Nam can be salvaged. If not, write it off now.

Congress Could Follow Precedent of Herbert Hoover as Regards Pay Raise

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 17—If the conscience of any member of Congress hurts him about voting for that pay raise of $10,000 a year, there is an easy way out—to give back to the treasury as much as he likes.

There's precedent for such a gift. Herbert Hoover gave back most of the presidential salary he received while in the White House. He himself never revealed that fact but his friends have told about it. Maybe there are other public servants who have done the same thing and kept it secret.

What a proper salary for members of Congress should be is a very serious matter and goes to the heart of the question of integrity in government.

Many of those in the House of Representatives who voted against the proposed increase—which has yet to pass the Senate—did so because of a conscientious belief that the voters wouldn't approve of it. But it is important that the voters should know all the facts. For many members who voted against the increase really deserve to have the higher salary to cover those expenses they have been trying to meet out of their own pockets. Likewise, some who voted for the increase did so out of consideration for the plight of their colleagues, though they themselves didn't need the extra money.

It all comes down to a simple proposition—the American people certainly don't want only rich men in Congress, nor do they want to see members accepting gratuities from constituents or big campaign contributions in appreciation of service they may have rendered.

Members of the House come up for election every two years, so they are constantly in need of campaign funds. Many of them supply it out of their own pockets rather than solicit gifts from constituents who seek special privileges. But the worst phase of the matter is the drain on the funds of a member of Congress by residents of his district or state who feel their congressman or senator is something of an errand boy or personal representative in Washington.

Lots of the things done by members of Congress for people back home are worth thousands of dollars to those who are benefited, yet there is no such thing as a "service charge" or "fee" to be paid. Indeed, it would be highly improper for any such payment to be made.

If, for example, a new post office building or a defense installation or some other federal project involving huge sums of money is brought to an area as a result of the efforts of a member of either House, there are citizens who profit by the rise in real-estate values and in other ways. They cannot and should not pay for that service. Yet, in the doing of that chore for the people, various expenses are often incurred and in many instances it is the member of Congress who foots the bill rather than become involved in some transaction which a political opponent could some day uncover and use as a smear.

It is odd but members of national legislatures the world over have trouble about the size of their salaries. In Britain the Churchill government almost was overthrown last spring because the Labor Party insisted on a pay raise and the Conservatives opposed it. Many of them are wealthy and carry on extensive business interests. Only after some conservatives deserted their leadership was the issue compromised. Today the pay of a member of the House of Commons is the equivalent of about $2,800 a year, with an extra allowance they may request for each day the House sits. This amounts approximately to about an extra $740 a year. Curiously enough, the House members in London have no private offices or staffs provided by the government.

In France the pay is equivalent to about $5,000 a year and the 100 Communist deputies contribute about $3,000 apiece directly to the party fund or approximately $300,000 a year, which is quite a sizeable help in carrying on Communist propaganda.

In the state legislatures in this country members are poorly paid and it is a scandal that corporations with business before these bodies often retain as counsel for other services members who are lawyers. The labor unions do the same thing.

Many members of Congress have outside income. Some earn it by getting large fees for speaking before labor unions and trade bodies of various kinds. Others still practice law before state courts. Some have large business interests or derive a big income from investments.

The raise in pay is needed in order to permit the election to Congress of citizens irrespective of their income status. A total of $25,000 a year, out of which comes $4,500 for taxes, or a net of $20,500, is not to much for a member of either the House or the Senate to receive if he is honorably to serve his constituency.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I suspect that I have come upon the secret of the Ford Foundation's mighty effort to dissolve the nationality and sovereignty of the United States and merge this and other nations into a grand humanity beginning as the United Nations. I came to know old Henry Ford rather well in his last few years. The strange conduct of the foundation and the subsidiary fund for the republic nowadays reminds me of a gesture which he made a number of times as we rode swiftly around his empire near Detroit. Mr. Ford would direct the conversation to the oneness of humanity and the havoc which man wreaks upon man by maintaining separations by artificial boundaries, then he would whip out a small, illuminated card like an old-fashioned Sunday-school card, containing a few stanzas of Tennyson's "Locksley Hall." I did not make daily notes on these penny lectures of an unlearned mechanic and genius of mass production so I have to rely on the general impression which he made. That impression is deepened now by the activities of his foundation and fund for the republic. Henry Ford believed the human race was intended to be one race under one authority, possibly God. And the stanzas from "Locksley Hall," taken out of context, were the following, give or take one or two:

"For I dipped into the future and as far as eye could see,
Saw the vision of the world, and all the wonder that would be.
Saw the heavens fill with commerce, argosies of magic sails,
Pilots of the purple twilight, dropping down with costly
bales;
Heard the heavens fill with shouting, and there rained a ghastly dew,
From the nations' airy navies'
grappling in the central blue.
Far along the world-wide whisper of the south-wind rushing warm,
With the standards of the people, plunging through the thunderstorm.
Till the war-drums throbbed no longer, and the battle-flags were furled
In the parliament of man, the federation of the world."

That was the ending of the excerpt, but I think this little Sunday-school card of his also contained this couplet:

"There the common sense of most shall hold a fretful realm
in awe,
And the kindly earth shall slumber, lapped in universal law."

Now old man Ford was a cantankerous tyrant as many of his executives, and even his own son, Edsel, knew. He could be intimate and kind but he was an authoritarian boss over an empire of industry and human beings. It was said with as much truth as vulgarity that if you worked for him you had to let him regulate your entire life—including your bowels. He spied upon his workmen to prevent their squandering money on booze and gambling.

At the time of my little association with him he was building the big bomber plant at Willow Run from which he quietly promised that a bomber would roll out every hour. He said that, given enough people and materials, he could produce one a minute. He did turn out one an hour and possibly one every half hour. I do not remember.

But this old man, as I now look back on his meaning, had a believing vision of those "argosies of magic sails * * * dropping down with costly bales" and of the furling of the battleflags in "the parliament of man, the federation of the world" which his posthumous deputies of the foundation and his fund nowadays are promoting.

I spent three or four separate days with him and he handed me that Sunday-school card each time. I hope I have one or more still mislaid among my stuff.

Now the day I first hit New York in the fall of 1915 from St. Louis to seek my fortune in the great profession of fire-engine chasing was the day Ford's peace ship, Oscar II, a Swedish vessel immune to submarine attack was sailing for Sweden to "get the boys out of the trenches by Christmas." Not that it is pertinent, Hugh Baillie, president of the United Press, and the late Bob Bender who died of wear-and-tear as vice-president thereof some years ago, also landed in the U.P. office in the old World building, the same day.. Our correspondent aboard the Oscar II was Berton Braley, a writer of rippling verse in the idiom of Grantland Rice. Jimmy Montague and Wallace Irwin, a forgotten art deserving a respectful tear.

With no exception the popular press of all the world lambasted the Ford mission. Just before the ship tied loose a pair of squirrels in a wire cage were delivered to Henry and for about ten days while the Oscar loitered at Halifax and until she docked in Europe, Lindsay Denison, a great rewrite man of the Evening World, wrote amusing communiques from the squirrels. The missionaries were a freak show but the British and German governments were even crazier. They repulsed as a horrid thought the very idea of calling off a war which was to destroy the flower of the youth of christendom and the seed of the future. The disaster of that stubborn stupidity is beyond measure even today.

Like his grandfather, young Henry is stubborn, sulky, and conscious of the power of money. Like his grandfather, he has no record of scholarship but old Henry never would have put himself and his fortune at the disposal of designing schemers, promoting federation of the world without the slightest provision against betrayal even so soon after Yalta and Potsdam.

Wired for Eggs

Wood River, Ill. (AP)—Coaxing an egg out of gas tank of an automobile is about as tough as putting toothpaste back into a tube, but Ray Esterlein did it. Someone dropped an unbroken egg into the gasoline spout of his car, and it remained undetected until a filling station attendant, discovered it. The egg was lodged six to seven inches down the spout and had to be removed intact or it would foul up the engine. A piece of adhesive tape on the end of a prod failed. A bent wire finally did the trick, but Esterlein says it

Members Dinner To Be Attended by Head of VFW

TIMOTHY J. MURPHY

ARRANGE FOR VFW MEMBERSHIP CUP—Plans for presentation of a membership cup at the VFW dinner in Saugerties Memorial Post on February 26 were made by this group at a meeting Wednesday night. From left, seated, are Mrs. Ruth Prendergast, president of the Saugerties auxiliary; Ralph Scism, Kingston, commander of Hudson Valley Counties Council; John C. Utter, Saugerties, chairman of the dinner committee; Mrs. Hazel Drewes, ticket chairman; standing, Bernard McCutcheon, commander of Saugerties Memorial Post 5034; William H. Jordan of Joyce-Schirick Post here, membership chairman; Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly, donor of the cup and F. William Sheehan, officer-in-charge of the U. S. Veterans Administration here, a member of the local VFW post. (Freeman photo).

At a dinner in the hall of Saugerties Memorial Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Saturday, Feb. 26 at 8 p. m., dignitaries of the organization will be present for the awarding of a membership cup, including Timothy J. Murphy, Dorchester, Mass., senior vice commander-in-chief of the VFWs of the United States.

Announcement of this was made last night at a committee meeting in Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, VFW, by William H. Jordan, membership chairman for Hudson Valley Counties Council, including Ulster and Orange, with an affiliation of 15 posts. Jordan, prominent in veterans' affairs since his service with the 27th Division in World War 1 said the post with the most members would be announced at the dinner.

JORDAN, ALSO a former lieutenant in the 156th Field Artillery, National Guard, said the membership cup has been donated by Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly, who has been interested in VFW promotions over a period of years.

"As chairman of the membership drive, I was happy to accept donation of the cup from Kelly. He has been a friend of the VFW for a long time, and was one of our mainstays when the post arranged for local quarters."

Jordan recalled that Kelly and a friend, Zeke Boss, assumed a leading part in promoting a fund raising minstrel for the first dugout of Joyce-Schirick Post on East Chestnut street.

WHEN NEGOTIATIONS were in process for the present post home, the former W. D. Brinnier estate, Delaware avenue, Kelly and Albert J. Melville, Kingston's well-known handcuffed swimmer, arranged a special attraction to raise money.

Jordan, one of the veterans deeply interested in buying the property, said, "It was the money raised on the swim that gave us our start."

Melville, swam the Rondout creek with his hands cuffed behind his back, and his legs shackled, amazing a large assemblage of spectators along the Ferry street waterfront. The feat was the same as that he put on at the World's Fair in New York, swimming Flushing Bay in record time for a handicapped natator.

MELVILLE, a Nicaraguan campaign marine veteran, who was in the army for World War 2, and later served in the merchant marine during the same crisis, is a member of the post, and one of its stable supporters. He is state vice commander of the Marine Corps League, which meets at the VFW home for its business sessions.

Jordan said a capacity attendance is expected for the membership dinner in Saugerties to meet Vice Commander Murphy, who was unanimously elected to the national post at Philadelphia on August 6, 1954.

A practicing attorney, he is a graduate of Northeastern University a former representative to the Massachusetts general court and former district attorney for Suffolk county. He served as first assistant attorney general of Massachusetts.

A navy veteran, he served as a line officer aboard an escort carrier in the Pacific during World War 2. At present Murphy is a lieutenant commander in the naval reserve.

11 Persons Die In Montreal Fire

Montreal, Feb. 11 (AP)—Fire whipped through the top floors of a 75-year-old brick apartment house in the heart of snow-covered Montreal last night, killing 11 persons and injuring a dozen others.

Firemen combing the ruins early today said there was "only a very slim possibility" more bodies remained to be found.

As a heavy snow fell, firemen scrambled up ladders to rescue a score of frenzied men and women from wooden balconies and window ledges.

The building was the Salaberry Apartments—once one of the city's most luxurious—at the corner of Sherbrooke East and St. Denis streets.

An estimated 200 persons lived in the building but many were out. Only a few were in bed. Relatives and neighbors sheltered those unhurt.

An investigation was started to determine the cause of the fire.

Howe District Manager

Raymond Howe Jr., son of Deputy Clerk of the Board of Supervisors and Mrs. Raymond Howe of Port Ewen, who for several years was associated with the Sherwin-Williams paint company and later with the Syracuse Chevrolet agency, has recently been named a district manager for the Pontiac Division of General Motors at Utica. He is making his home in Utica and will serve the central New York and Adirondack territory.

First parochial free school was established July 31, 1809.

ADDED ATTRACTION—Mayor Frederick H. Stang pins a corsage on Miss Mary O'Reilly, one of the first 50 ladies to attend the showing of The Holly and the Ivy, at the Community Theatre, Wednesday evening. Watching are Michael Dorso, manager of the theatre, and Mrs. Jay Le Fever, chairman of the board of Ulster Garden Club, which sponsored the showing—and the 50 attractive corsages. The painting is one of many flower portraits in an exhibit which opened in the lounge last night. (Freeman photo)

Guardsmen Try For Pistol Squad At Local Armory

Local Guardsmen are trying out for the pistol team which will represent the 156th Armored Field Artillery Battalion at Camp Smith, Peekskill, in late May, it was announced today by Lt. Col. Frank W. Harkin, commanding officer.

Several thousand rounds of ammunition has been made available for practice in the local armory which is equipped with an indoor range.

All Guardsmen are required to qualify and compete with the 45 caliber automatic pistol which will be used in the Richardson Match. Non-commissioned officers of the battalion are supervising the practice.

Harkin said many men asking about enlistment were under the impression that the battalion formed for drills only on Monday evenings. Actually the unit forms for drill Monday and Tuesday evenings of each week. Battery A, Service Battery and the medical detachment drill on Monday and Headquarters Battery on Tuesday.

It was decided a year ago to train these units on separate evenings due to the increased strength of the battalion. Such a program, Harkin explained, permits the maximum training effort and individual attention, much of which calls for highly technical training of a classroom nature.

Bills in Legislature

Albany, Feb. 17 (AP)—Public officers and employes would be permitted to work at horse-race tracks if their jobs did not conflict with their public duties, under terms of bills before the Legislature.

The measures, filed jointly by Sen. Edward P. Larkin and Assemblyman Palmer D. Farrington, both Nassau county Republicans, were among more than 300 introduced in the Senate and Assembly yesterday.

Next Tuesday is the deadline for general introduction of bills. Since Jan. 4, when the Legislature convened for its 1955 session, nearly 5,000 bills have been introduced.

OTHER MEASURES introduced yesterday included proposals to:

Prohibit food handlers at institutions under jurisdiction of the State Health Department from being assigned to work split shifts.

Boost from 60 cents to $2 a day the amount paid by the state for support of imprisoned felons.

Make it a misdemeanor for a person knowingly to sell or possess for sale a newspaper or other publication whose cover or title page had been removed or which had no discernible identification mark.

Require all persons to file proof of financial responsibility when registering motor vehicles.

The Larkin-Farrington bill would allow public officers or employes, regardless of their annual salaries, to work at thoroughbred and harness racing tracks or to hold office in organizations sponsoring race meetings, provided there was no conflict with their public jobs.

POLICEMEN, as under present law, still would be forbidden to take track positions.

Republican Assemblyman Robert Walmsley of Rockland county introduced the bill applying to split shifts at state hospitals. It also would set at eight consecutive hours the daily tour of duty for workers at those institutions.

Two Queens Democrats, Sen. Thomas J. Mackell and Assemblyman Louis Wallach, proposed legislation to increase the pay of lawyers assigned to defend persons charged with capital offenses.

Their bills would raise from $1,000 to $1,500 the maximum pay for a single lawyer assigned to a defendant and from $1,500 to $2,000 the maximum fee when two or more lawyers were assigned.

OTHER BILLS WOULD:

Provide for issuance of special permits exempting paraplegic veterans from certain parking restrictions, including observing time limits (Farington).

Prohibit industrial and private banks and credit unions from using the words "savings" in their titles (Assemblyman Lewis Demo, R-Lewis).

Increase from $250 to $500 the maximum amounts of checks, drafts or money orders that may be cashed by licensed check-cashers (Theodore Hill Jr., R-Westchester).

Restore Civil Rights to persons sentenced to state prisons 10 years after they finished their terms (Sen. Alfred E. Santangello, D.-Manhattan).

When today's hand was played in a recent team match, the first round of bidding was the same at both tables. East opened with one heart, West raised to four hearts, and North then bid four no-trump. After that, the bidding took two separate paths.

In the first room, as the diagram shows, South bid five clubs. This was doubled and beaten only one trick, although a keener defense would have beaten South two tricks.

At the time, East and West felt ashamed of themselves for failing to get the spade ruff that would have set the contract two tricks. When they heard the result that was achieved at the other table, however, they realized how insignificant their crime had been.

At the second table, South bid five spades (instead of five clubs) in response to the bid of four no-trump. West doubled, and neither North nor South ran from this ghastly contract. South was set six tricks, for the staggering loss of 1700 points.

Most of the blame went to South for the disaster, but North might have come in for a fair share of it. If he wanted to act, for which he can hardly be blamed, he might have taken his chances on bidding five clubs at once.

This was probably as good a contract as he was likely to find and had the supreme virtue of being crystal clear. Either a double or a bid of four no-trump might encourage South to bid spades, and then the fat would be in the fire.

It might be argued that a bid of four no-trump shows support for clubs and diamonds, since it shuts out a bid of four spades. At lower levels, moreover, many experts use an "unusual" over-cal in no-trump to show support for both minors. At the level of four, however, this is not absolutely clear.

It is a truism to say that a player should avoid at any time making a bid that his partner is likely to misunderstand. But the force of this statement is multiplied a millionfold when the bid is made at the disaster level. If you can't make an absolutely clear bid at such a time it's better to make no bid at all.

A FEW FAST FACTS: Fran Warren, on tour with "The Pajama Game," is slated to be screen-tested when the show hits Los Angeles. Her friends say she may be groomed to succeed Doris Day as the queen of Warner's musicals . . . Irene Dunne says she's tired of "always being called a lady—what do people expect, anyhow?" . . . Arthur Godfrey's faults are magnified, but people don't know—and Arthur doesn't tell—some of his many good qualities. Recently, he paid the hospital bills for an ex-employe, and even had a car and chauffeur put at the disposal of the man's wife while he was hospitalized . . . Howard Perry Rothberg, who decorates many of the stars' apartments, redecorates his own place completely every six months. Latest innovation: suede-covered chairs.

Janis Carter, of the "Feather Your Nest" TV show, paid a duty call to the executives of the firm that makes the show's prize ranch homes. She was introduced, first to Bernie Germershausen.

"Germershausen," Janis said, hoping to remember it.

"And this is Henry Harnischfeger."

"Harnischfeger, eh?" said Janis, sensing a gag. "I suppose the next one is Mr. Knucklebender."

"No. This is Arthur Pipenhagen."

And the names were legit—Germershausen, Harnischfeger, and Pipenhagen. Janis called them Bernie, Henry and Arthur.

When they like you in Australia, they REALLY like you. Like the president of the Evie Hayes Fan Club, who saw her heroine in "Annie Get Your Gun" 116 times. And the secretary to Australian Prime Minister Robert Menzies, who went to see Evie Hayes 17 times.

Australia seems to like Evie Hayes. And it's mutual. The Seattle, Wash., girl has become the queen of the Australian musical comedy stage.

Once a visiting American, after hearing all about Evie Hayes from some Australian friends, said, "She must be the Ethel Merman of Australia."

"Nonsense," said one of the Australians. "Ethel Merman is the Evie Hayes of America."

It was in 1943 that Evie Hayes first went Down Under. She was on a vaudeville tour with her husband, Will Mahoney—the man who's built a life dancing on an xylophone.

Since then, she's been there almost continually. She got the lead in the Australian version of "Annie Get Your Gun" and played it for three and one-half years. And she's had the lead in "Oklahoma," "Kiss Me Kate" and "Call Me Madam." The shows play Melbourne, Sydney, Adelaide, Perth and tour New Zealand.

"I'm over her now," she says, "for 18 months or so. I'm scouting for some TV shows. Television will open there in about two years, and the head of the TV station gave me carte blanche to buy television shows here."

But she's definitely going back.

Quickway Is New Proposal

Albany, Feb. 17 (AP)—Construction of a 400-mile "quickway" from a point near New York to a point near Westfield was proposed today. Most of the route would be along the southern tier.

Assemblyman Charles D. Henderson of Hornell, a Republican, introduced a bill in the Assembly that would authorize the State Thruway Authority to build and operate a toll highway that would shorten the thruway traveling distance between New York city and the western tip of the state.

The quickway would begin at a point at or near the westerly end of state thruway's Hudson river crossing, in Rockland county. It would proceed in a general westerly direction through the counties of Orange, Sullivan, Delaware, Broome, Tioga, Chemung, Steuben, Allegany, Cattaraugus and Chautauqua and connect with the thruway's Erie section in the vicinity of Westfield, which is southwest of Buffalo.

THE SUPERHIGHWAY would be approximately 400 miles long and would roughly parallel Route 17.

Henderson said the purpose would be to help develop industry in the counties through which the road would pass, particularly the southern tier group, and to relieve traffic pressure on Route 17.

He said the quickway was needed, regardless of what might be done to improve Route 17.

Henderson did not estimate the cost of the project. The state thruway, when completed, will cover about 500 miles, from New York to Ripley, near Erie, and Spurs, and will have cost close to one billion dollars.

Rhode Island never ratified the Prohibition Amendment.

No Monkey Business

Singapore (AP)—There's no more "monkey business" in Singapore. Once thousands of monkeys passed through, often in air freighters, destined for England and the United States for scientific work. Most of them came from Java. But now the monkey tax is too high. It costs a dollar for an entry permit for each monkey and another dollar to export it. Now scientists overseas are getting their monkeys from India.

Clean Bridge

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. (AP)—A new color scheme for bridges is planned by designers of the 95 million dollar Straits of Mackinac Bridge. It is to be green with ivory colored towers. This is possible, they said, because air is sufficiently clean in the straits to permit use of light color.

There are an estimated 500,000 music teachers in this country, full and part time.

When we say that someone (or something) is sinister today, we don't usually think of whether they are lefthanded or not. However, the word was coined in Rome where the left side was considered unlucky or wicked. Sinister first meant the left side.

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

NO TIME FOR SERGEANTS
By MAC HYMAN

It might not have been so difficult for the man from the draft board to get hillbilly, Will Stockdale, to go along with him, but that day Bill and his pappy had had a very unsuccessful fishing trip so Pappy was good and mad and met the man with a loaded shotgun. Will didn't really care whether he went into the army or not but he was a dutiful son and that night he helped his pappy string barbed wire all aroung their place and when the draft man came next day they were met by two shotguns. However Uncle Sam proved to be stronger than any hillbilly, so next day Will started out on the long walk to the induction center (Pappy wouldn't let them take him in their car). On the way Will met a draft dodging friend. That delayed them so that they arrived late, created a disturbance and both spent the night in jail.

Since Will arrived at the bus that was to take the inductees to Fort Thompson, Georgia accompanied by a guard from the jail, he was regarded as a dangerous problem. Problem he was, mostly he was friendly and willing to please—unless goaded too far, when he retaliated in true hillbilly fashion.

Of course he was a butt for roughhouse antics by the other men in his outfit. He took it all in good part but when they picked on his buddy, cocky little Ben Whitledge, Will just sailed into the lot of them and, with Ben's help clobbered them, but good.

After that his comrades treated Will with respect, but he somehow managed with the best of intentions to get into one mix-up after another, worrying Sgt. King no end and often getting them both into trouble with the commanding officers.

For a time K.P. seemed the best place for Will. However Will had a huge appetite and a fondness for raw potatoes and onions, so the cooks complained. Then Sgt. King made him latrine orderly, explaining that the Colonel was especially particular about its being kept spotlessly clean. That he did cheerfully and well. When the Colonel inspected and praised him he said, "He only done it because Sgt. Kelly said the Colonel would raise Hell if he didn't." Furthermore he showed the Colonel something else. He moved his foot to which a wire was attached, connecting all the toilet seat covers, and bang! All the covers flew up and stood at attention. That broke Sgt. King back to private for a while.

There are many screamingly funny episodes following that. This big, clumsy hillbilly could show a certain native shrewdness that managed to circumvent all set army rules and sometimes make his superior officers look pretty silly. The interview with the psychiatrist is a wow in which the psychiatrist comes off a poor second. Will passed the tests to get himself classified simply because he was unclassifiable and there was nothing else to do with him. He finally landed in the air force along with his friend Ben. One night the boys took him out to a pool room. Will had never played pool so the boys thought it would be fun to have him bet all his money on the first game. He did that and shot a perfect game, kept his money and cleaned his tormenters out completely. Then he treated all to drinks, lots of drinks. Presently they mixed the drinks—beer-whisky-gin—to which Will added kerosene. Result, everyone pie-eyed at inspection next day—except Will.

The final episode in which Will and Ben, from their hiding place in the barracks, after they had inadvertently gone A.W.O.L., hear the Colonel award medals of honor to them, posthumously, tops everything that had gone before.

Everyone but Top Brass will enjoy this book. Perhaps they will too.

HIGH MAN — A 71-year-old Kansas publisher and private pilot has achieved the highest mark ever recorded in a Civil Aeronautics Administration examination for a radio navigation instrument rating. Citizen Soldier

Bridgeport, Conn. (AP)—Joseph Kleinhandler, 22, a native of France, said he would be a happy man if he could enter the armed forces as an American citizen. Uncle Sam obliged him on both counts. Kleinhandler was drafted eleven days after being sworn in as a citizen.

Young Mother Kills Baby to Conceal Birth

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—A distraught young wife, frantically trying to conceal the birth of a baby whose father was not her husband, hurled the newborn infant from a Manhattan hotel window early today, police reported.

The baby, a boy, later was found dead between two parked cars on Eighth avenue near the Hotel Capitol.

An assistant district attorney, after questioning the mother at a hospital, ordered her booked on a homicide charge.

The woman's husband, discharged only yesterday after being confined 13 months in a navy brig at Portsmouth, N. H., said he had not known his wife was pregnant—even after reaching home.

POLICE WHO PLANNED an autopsy to determine whether the baby was dead at birth or killed in the fall, gave this account:

Celebrating the husband's discharge from the long period of naval confinement, the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morvan of Garfield, N. J., checked in last night at the hotel.

Shortly after midnight the 22-year-old wife, apparently feeling that the baby's birth was imminent, asked her husband to go out and get sandwiches.

While he was out, the baby was born and the mother threw it out the window of their seventh floor room.

WHEN THE HUSBAND returned, he saw blood in the room and found his wife ill. He called a doctor. Shortly afterward the baby's body was found by a pedestrian and police were summoned.

Mrs. Morvan was quoted as telling officers:

"The father of the baby is not my husband and I didn't want him to know it."

Mrs. Morvan was taken to St. Clare's Hospital, where the first report gave her condition as "very poor" from loss of blood. However, the hospital later said it was "fairly satisfactory."

IN MID-MORNING, authorities went to her room to question her in more detail regarding the baby's birth. The husband went with them.

Police said that Morvan, who is 20, came to New York yesterday after his discharge at Portsmouth, and telephoned his wife to meet him here.

He said he asked her why she was so stout, and she replied that she had neglected to care for herself properly after a daughter was born to them in June 1953.

Placing his sensitive amplifier among the tombstones, he picked up not the gurgle of escaping water but music, music, music. Ghostly hepcats? No, said DeMarcus, just a freak of radio reception. But he added: "I'll tell you this, if the front of one of those tombstones had lighted up with a television picture, I'd have been long gone."

Snowfall Is Heaviest Of Winter in Some Sections

A snowfall of from four to six inches, the heaviest of the season in some county areas, slowed traffic in the region last night and today, resulted in one fatal accident and another involving a school bus in which no injuries were reported.

A car-truck accident last night at Marlborough resulted in fatal injuries to Lewis E. Chidgey, 55, of Highland, and serious injuries to his wife, Blanche. The school bus skidded off the Ulster Park-Union Center road today.

The snow was reported deepest in the northern and westernmost areas of the county, but measured four inches in the city, the same as the storm of Feb. 11.

STATE, COUNTY and city plowing and sanding crews started operations last night, continued through the morning hours, and some were active later today.

City police received scattered reports of minor mishaps and hampering traffic conditions, but traffic generally, was able to negotiate the streets.

County snow-removal equipment began operating in the Pine Hill area at 9 p. m. Snow was reported from four to six inches deep in that area. State forces were operating on the thruway between 8 and 9 p. m. and the city plows and sanders started out at about 11 p. m.

THE NEW YORK water department office reported a fall of five inches of snow at Brown's Station in the Ashokan reservoir area, and described the storm as "spotty" with only a trace to three inches of snow in the Schoharie watershed at Prattsville and other Greene county areas.

The city engineer's office, Kingston, reported a total February snowfall of 11¼ inches and a total for the winter of 13¼ inches. This puts the winter, which was almost snowless in December and January, ahead of the 1935-36 winter in which the total season's snowfall was only 12 inches. That winter's total was a 21-year record in the city.

LOCAL POLICE began reporting slippery conditions in the city between 9 and 10 p. m. A report at 10:35 p. m., said trucks were "tied up" on the Wurts street hill, and sanding equipment was dispatched there. Agnes Sleight, of 89 Prince street, reported that a car she drove skidded on the Wurts street hill and struck a speed-limit sign at West Union street at about 10 p. m., and a "slight accident" was reported near 245 Lucas avenue at about the same time. No details were reported on the latter.

Edward Tuey, of 39 Garden street, reported at 1 a. m., that he was unable to drive from the downtown section, and was stuck at Ferry street and East Strand.

George Kelly, of Woodstock, reported that at about 5:30 a. m., a pickup truck he drove skidded up on the sidewalk at Washington avenue and North Front street. At 10:10 p. m., the lights on the west side of the Washington avenue viaduct were reported out, and earlier last night police were notified of a "large hole" in Albany avenue between the Grand Union market and Roosevelt avenue.

CITY STREETS and sections of area roads were left bumpy with ice under the fresh snow as the result of freezing slush after the previous storm.

The snow, which began falling late yesterday afternoon, was generally wet and heavy in the region. It quit during the morning and the temperature remained generally above freezing. It was 36 degrees in the city at 10 a. m.

Woman Who Assisted Composer Is Missing

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Feb. 17 (AP)—The woman who gave Puccini the Japanese melodies for his famous opera "Madame Butterfly" is missing and feared dead in the fire that razed a Catholic old ladies home here and burned to death nearly 100 women.

She is Mrs. Hisako Oyama, 85, widow of the late Tsunasuke Oyama, Japanese minister to Italy in 1899.

Mrs. Oyama's relatives tentatively identified a body as hers.

They said Mrs. Oyama, a devout Catholic, made her own decision to enter the home and paid her own way. Most of the inmates were destitute. The family said she told them "I can be nearer to God there."

THE WORLD PREMIERE of Madame Butterfly was 51 years ago today at Milan's La Scala.

Before World War 2, Mrs. Oyama told in a magazine article of her connection with the opera, the story of a geisha girl Cho Cho San's love for an American naval officer and her suicide when he deserts her.

Puccini needed Japanese musical themes and melodies that he could elaborate to give the opera an authentic Japanese atmosphere.

He was introduced to Mrs. Oyama, an amateur musician who sang to him the songs of her native land. Mrs. Oyama wrote that she was startled to find that Puccini, not too familiar with Japanese music, had used an old drinking song as his inspiration for the suicide music.

Swiss Say Four To Stand Trial

Bern, Switzerland, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Swiss government declared today the four anti-Communists who invaded the Romanian legation and killed a chauffeur would stand trial before the courts of this traditionally neutral nation.

A government statement said "under no circumstances" would the four be extradited, as demanded in bitter notes to Bern from the Communist regime in Bucharest.

The statement asserted that the legation was situated on Swiss soil and despite its extra-territorial status the men would be tried here instead of Romania for the slaying. Maximum sentence in Switzerland for murder is life, with paroles usually granted after 20 years.

Switzerland has never concluded an extradition agreement with Romania, the government statement added, so there could "under no circumstances be any obligation for extradition in this case."

Three of the men gave up their arms and left the legation yesterday after holding it for nearly two days in the face of a show of force by Swiss police and troops. A fourth had been arrested early Tuesday when he tried to slip out. Police said they refused to give their names.

Senate Expected

pay question is likely to bring considerable talk.

Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore.) has announced he will oppose the pay hike, but offer as a substitute a proposal to increase staff allowances for senators and make them subject to audit.

Sen. Williams (R-Del.) plans to offer an amendment to postpone the effective date of the pay boost until the federal budget is balanced.

The House bill would make the increases retroactive to Jan. 5, the day this Congress opened. Under the Senate bill, they would take effect the first month after the President signed it.

The pay bill sailed through the House with relatively light opposition.

Minority Leader Halleck (R-Ind.) said most federal employes have had four or five pay hikes since members of Congress last got one in 1946.

Rep. Dies (D-Tex.) said that unless they pay is raised, the day might come when only rich men could afford to serve in Congress.

Rep. Celler (D-N. Y.), noting that only Congress can raise its own pay, told the House: "The baby who never cries never gets suckled."

Rep. Burdick (R-N. D.), a foe of the bill, urged a rollcall vote to put members on record. He told his colleagues that if they would agree to such a vote, "I've enjoyed knowing you." Passage was by record vote.

Burdick's move to hold the raise to $5,000 lost on a standing vote.

Bennett Says

was he who gave the Hanley letter to the Democrats. His reply was: "I didn't have to. It was my impression that my only function was to confirm the text."

Hanley made his letter to Macy public Oct. 16, 1950—two hours before the Democratic State Committee gave out a photostat.

Bennett testified he was one of a group that consulted frequently in efforts to win the 1950 GOP gubernatorial nomination for Hanley, then 74.

On his way out of the court room, Bennett shook hands with Macy, a political foe of Dewey for many years. Macy lost his seat in Congress and his Republican leadership of Suffolk county on Long Island in the 1950 election.

Bennett testified he was with Macy when Macy received Hanley's letter by hand on Sept. 6, 1950, but the witness said this was 18 hours after James A. Leary, Saratoga lawyer, had shown Macy a copy.

Bennett further said that after the State Republican nominating convention he received two photostats of the letter from Macy. One, Bennett said, was for him to deliver to Whitelaw Reid, editor of the New York Herald Tribune. The other, Bennett said, was for Frank E. Gannett, Rochester publisher.

Bennett related that he later flew to New York with James P. Wilmot, of Rochester, and the two had a two-hour conference with Paul E. Fitzpatrick, then Democratic state chairman, and Vincent Dailey, Democratic campaign manager.

Wilmot, who also testified for the defense, fixed the time of the conference as "probably September."

Wilmot testified that Bennett brought a photostat of the letter. Bennett's testimony was "I believe I did."

MACY'S ATTORNEY, William Power Maloney, objected to further testimony along this line unless it was shown that the trip here was "undertaken at the behest and with the connivance or the knowledge in some fashion of Mr. Macy."

The judge allowed Bennett to testify that "on several occasions" his group, including Macy, had discussed "the impact of the Democrats' having possession of the letter." Bennett said they all believed it would be "very, very damaging" to Dewey's candidacy for governor.

The World-Telegram and Sun's counsel, Milton Pollack, asked the witness: "Did Mr. Macy in words or in substance suggest to you that it might be desirable to have the letter get into the hands of the Democrats?"

BENNETT REPLIED: "King Macy at no time told me to give a copy of the letter to the Democrats."

Pollack then asked: "Is it your testimony . . . that Mr. Macy did not know you were going to see Mr. Fitzpatrick?"

"It is," Bennett replied.

The story went no further in court.

Lee B. Wood, executive editor of the World-Telegram and Sun, the final defense witness, testified the newspaper had "practically always supported" Macy. Wood said he telephoned Macy Oct. 17, 1950, after morning newspapers published Hanley's letter to Macy.

Macy declined comment, Wood said, and "I tried to advise him as I would anybody who is a friend" that silence might be "misunderstood."

Wood quoted Macy as saying "That letter was around about 12 to 15 hours before I saw it" and "I'm just going to stand on 'no comment'."

SEVENTH CAESAREAN BIRTH—Mrs. Paul Nugent, 36, is shown with her husband and their eighth child, the seventh to be born by Caesarean section, at Cambridge, O., Wednesday. The new baby, William Joseph, joins a family of five girls and twin boys ranging in age from 6 to 16. (AP Wirephoto).

Committee to Act

onto the tax extensions requested by Eisenhower. Either would be certain to provoke a hot fight with the administration.

However, several members said odds are that these two moves, if they develop at all this year, will come later and will not be tied to the tax extensions. They said the Saturday conference was aimed chiefly at thoroughly airing the issue.

The Formosa crisis has cooled earlier enthusiasm among some committee members for action now to cut individual income taxes. Eisenhower has opposed tax cuts this year, but indicated he expects the fiscal situation may justify a reduction next year. Some Democrats want to beat him to the punch.

Within two years Afghanistan will have virtually eliminated malaria from the entire country.

Missing Student Is in Evanston

Evanston, Ill., Feb. 17 (AP)—Mary Beth Staley, 16, missing from a fashionable private school at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., since Feb. 6 was found in Evanston today.

Two policemen picked up the girl, daughter of Mrs. Lucille Staley of Phoenix, Ariz., and A. Rollin Staley of Decatur, Ill., about 5 a. m. (EST).

They said the girl readily admitted her identity and told them she was on her way to visit her aunt, Mrs. Marjorie Rogers, in Evanston.

Police Lt. Al. Breitzman said Miss Staley told him she ran away from the Anderson School near Poughkeepsie and hitchhiked her way to Chicago. She said she stayed briefly at a YWCA hotel before going to Evanston, a Chicago suburb.

BREITZMAN SAID the girl, a green-eyed blonde, 5 feet 6 inches tall, appeared in good health.

Her father is a director of the A. E. Staley Co., Decatur, soybean and corn processors.

Breitzman said Miss Staley was picked up near the home of Mrs. Rogers at 550 Sheridan Rd., in Evanston. He said she had telephoned Mrs. Rogers she was in Evanston and was on her way to the Rogers home. Mrs. Rogers notified police.

Breitzman said both of the girl's parents were notified that she had been found. He said Mrs. Staley had requested that her daughter be held until arrangements could be made to have her turned over to a member of the family.

Use of Techniques Would Kill Most Business Methods

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—Business practices now considered advanced would become obsolete over night if Americans put to use the techniques scientists already know or can develop.

A leading scientist, Dr. Vannevar Bush, president of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, says so. And he thinks this should be done right away before businessmen and the rest of us get buried under the avalanche of records and the "vast and ever-increasing store of information" which is getting too big to be used efficiently.

OR TAKE THE TELEPHONE. Dr. Bush thinks businessmen will use it more and more. But the telephone is often a nuisance, breaking in on other work. Outlining his views to members of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, meeting here, Dr. Bush suggests they perfect a way "by which conversations could be carried on when both participants, rather than just one, want to talk and find it convenient to do so."

As for the stenographer on which most businessmen rely, the scientists say "we could make a machine that would type when we talked into it." This idea might please neither the stenographer nor the makers of dictating machines, however.

OUR POSTAL SYSTEM, with the multiple handling of a letter between sender and recipient, Dr. Bush finds "utterly archaic." He says, "it is quite possible to read addresses photoelectrically, if they are in proper code, and to render all sorting automatic."

Metal type is on the way out, he says, and coming one day soon are "better methods of printing, and better methods of distributing what is printed."

Shipping departments can be brought up to date, too. Dr. Bush says the time is near when the position of every plane in the sky will be known centrally at all times. He asks why businessmen and scientists don't work out "a similar system for the control of freight shipments and trucks."

But Dr. Bush thinks the most pressing need now is to work out from under the mass of paper that is piling up every day.

THE WORK of thousands of able men is constantly being recorded, he says, but an increasing part of that work is lost, for all essential purposes, "because we do not know how to find a pertinent item of information after it has become embedded in the mass."

Techniques for remedying this are already at hand, he says. Fifty companies are active in the production of one kind or another of data handling equipment.

Photographic methods can be used to cram the material of a thousand books into the space of a cigarette package. Computing devices can manipulate records in the form of numbers at the rate of a million operations a second.

"THERE IS NO LACK of powerful, versatile equipment, which is quite capable of rendering our stored records available in prompt, accurate, effective fashion, and at a distance if this is desired," Dr. Bush says.

Scientific literature, legal documents, or business records could be thus coded and placed under the control of machinery.

Dr. Bush says it would pay, "in a very practical sense, to do the job no matter how seemingly great the cost."

How is this to be done? Well, here, Dr. Bush goes back to the most old fashioned horse-and-buggy technique we have:

Uncle Sam will have to put up the cash.

Musical Deflation

Des Moines (AP)—With a drop in the price of bassoons, the Des Moines School Board has voted to take bids on six instruments to replace the old hand-me-downs and war surplus ones some students have been tooting.

NEW ARRIVAL IN GERMANY— An "Honest John" long range artillery rocket is towed by trailer truck to firing position during demonstration before newsmen at Darmstadt.

DUPLICATES MUSIC TONES— Dr. Harry F. Olson, rear, and Herbert Belar operate electronic music "synthesizer" developed by RCA, which announced device duplicates tones of any instrument and creates effects hitherto impossible.

AS THE WIND BLOWS— A rooster-shaped copper weathervane weighing 1,100 pounds is placed atop a Copenhagen, Denmark, water tower. It's nine feet high and 13 feet across.

IT'S ONLY PLAYTIME—Polly the parrot and Pluto the kitten have a nightly cut-up at the A. E. Cox home in Temple, Tex. The seven-month-old kitten climbs atop the parrot's cage and slaps at Polly, while Polly gets into the fun with a few gentle nips at the offending kitten.

Is Ill With Malaria

Mexico City, Feb. 17 (AP)—Former Costa Rican President Rafael Angel Calderon Guardia, who led last month's abortive revolt in his homeland, is back in Mexico reportedly suffering from malaria. Calderon Guardia, who flew here from Nicaragua Tuesday, has been ordered to take a complete rest. Doctors said he was running a high fever and could see no one. Informants said his condition was complicated by a liver ailment.

To Ease His Mind

Albany, Feb. 17 (AP)—A young man walked into the confessional of Roman Catholic Church last night and told the priest his conscience was "troubling" him. Then the man handed over a package of money, asking that it be returned to "ease the burden from my mind." The priest, who did not obtain the man's name, gave the package to police. The money, in $5 and $20 bills, totaled $2,450. Police believe the money was taken from a jewelry store Feb. 9. They did not identify the priest or the church.

Escape Is Prevented

Ft. Dix, N. J., Feb. 17 (AP)—A warning shot fired in the air stopped a young soldier prisoner who tried to escape from a guard yesterday. He fainted. After the unidentified 18-year-old private was revived, he was returned to the post stockade. The guard, Pvt. Austin Crane Jr. of Port Jervis, N. Y., had been taking the AWOL GI to the stockade at the time of the incident.

Trouble on the Beat

Columbia, S. C. (AP)—Former Chicago police officer J. C. Bedenbaugh told the judge he'd toured a Windy City beat for four years and never met violence. Now an officer here, Bedenbaugh asked a cursing man what the trouble was. "All I got was trouble," Bedenbaugh told the court. The man was fined $100 for attacking the officer with fists, a stick and knife, told the judge he didn't remember slugging Bedenbaugh.

IBM Introduces New Item For Operations Control

New York, Feb. 17—A new "electronic supervisor" that follows preset programs and automatically switches on or off up to 40 groups of remote operations—each on its own time schedule — was demonstrated here today by the International Business Machines Corporation.

The new IBM Central Control System will switch lights on or off, start and stop motors, open and close valves, control air conditioning, and perform scores of similiar operations. Its most advanced application will be to start and stop production line machinery in automated plants.

The new IBM system is expected to facilitate plant and office automation. With the trend toward automation becoming more pronounced, the need for automatic control of the ever-increasing number of services performed or controlled by electricity is readily apparent.

An outstanding feature of the new IBM Central Control System is that it uses carrier current signals and operates over exisiting electrical circuits. It does not require installation of a single transmission wire.

A second important feature is the central operations panel. A plant, department store, or school building superintendent, for instance, can check on his many remote electrically controlled services by merely glancing at the indicator lights on the panel. Such automatic control and supervision permit more economical operation of the machinery and services in a plant by utilizing them only when they are needed. The result: savings in fuel, water, electrical power, and other resources. In addition, the pumps, motors, valves, and other equipment will be available for valuable extra years of service.

THE CENTRAL CONTROL system will go through all of these operations automatically, maintaining the exact schedule established on its programs. But if it is necessary to depart from the preset program, manual operation is possible. A supervisor can break in on the control system at the central panel, say to turn on facilities for a special night shift; or he can break in at the remote relay, perhaps to turn on the lights or to stop the motors in a particular section of the plant.

The new IBM product is a carrier current system which utilizes commercial 60-cycle power and lighting circuits for the transmission of its supervisory signals. These "command" signals or pulses are superimposed on the existing circuits and in no way interfere with regular electrical functions.

The basic components of the system are its central operations panel, transmitter, and coded relays. The central operations panel is the source of the system's directions or "commands." Through its relays and an electronic transmitter, "command" pulses are sent to coded relays for operation of electrical services, with the coded relays rejecting all pulses other than those to which they are preset to respond. In the event that it becomes necessary to expand the system, it is designed so that additional circuits, pluggable relays, and pluggable programming units may be installed quickly and easily at any time.

Cub Bodenweber Awarded Webelos Badge at Dinner

Cub Scout William Bodenweber of Cub Pack 19, sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1386, was awarded his Webelos badge at a dinner last night at the Immanuel Lutheran Church Hall by Scout Executive George V. Dennis.

This award, the highest in Cub Scouting, is the equivalent of the Eagle award in Boy Scout ranks. Young Bodenweber is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bodenweber of West O'Reilly street.

The occasion of the Webelos award was the Blue & Gold banquet of Cub Pack 19, which featured a short address by Scout Executive George V. Dennis on the subject of Let Freedom Ring and Our Heritage. The speaker traced the history of the United States through the years and pointed out the advantages offered boys through participation in the Scouting movement.

Presiding at the speaker's table during the banquet was Claude Williams, assistant Pack committee chairman. Brief remarks were made by Donald Robins, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Frank Rittie, Pack Committee Chairman. Robert Tremper, Scoutmaster of Troop 11 and known to Cub Scouts throughout this area as "Uncle Stumpy," led the entire group in various action songs. He was accompanied at the piano by Edward Heaney.

The banquet was held at the Immanuel Lutheran Church Hall on Livingston street, with the Rev. E. L. Witte, pastor of the church, pronouncing the invocation.

Awards for the months were:

Den 1, Betty Eighmey den mother: Roger Sahloff, gold arrow, Robert Buddenhagen and James Herdman, silver arrows, and Charles DuBois, bear badge presented with a short ceremony.

Den 2, Lois Williams den mother: Jeffrey Williams and Douglas Eighmey, silver arrows.

Den 3, Lillian Rittie den mother: David Godbey, two silver arrows; Michael VanValkenburgh and Ronald Rittie, silver arrows, and William Bodenweber, webelos badge.

Den Mother Beatrice Connelly received the Pack 19 Totem Award, given as special recognition for additional service rendered for the welfare of the Pack. This award was given for her chairmanship of the recent window display which received first award in the Kingston District contest. Also recognized were all Cub Scouts who had attended church on Scout Sunday in uniform.

The opening ceremony was presented by Den 1, in charge of Den Chiefs Girard White and Phillips Eighmey. Presentation of a colored film of past activities of the Cub Scouts of Pack 19 was made by Frank Rittie, chairman.

Assistant Cubmaster John Covey and John Sahloff were in charge of arrangements for the banquet, with the Den Mothers preparing the menu through the medium of a covered dish arrangement.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

In the Wednesday, Feb. 9 Freeman on page five there was mention of Anne Partlan who left Kingston about half a century ago. George O'Neill brought her name to my attention. He had read The Heart of O. Henry, a new biography on the famous author and found Anne Partlan's name sprinkled throughout the book as the one good friend of the famous O. Henry and his friend to the day he died. The author of this book, Dale Kramer, tried frantically to find out more about Miss Partlan when he published the book in 1954 and finally found she lived several blocks from his own home. She should be now around 80 years old. In her own right she was a well known writer and advertising woman. In the book it is mentioned that she was from Ulster county of upstate New York.

In the column I had asked if perhaps she was related to someone in Kingston. The day the article was published Mr. and Mrs. George Tierney of 61 Downs street dropped in to tell me that she was related to Mrs. Tierney, who was a former Partlan girl. Anne is her aunt. Mrs. Tierney's father was Charles H. Partlan of 48 Hasbrouck avenue, a well-known blacksmith of the Rondout section. Anne, the lady who befriended the famous O. Henry, is his sister. Mrs. Tierney told me she has another aunt in Poughkeepsie, which also would be Anne's sister. The brother mentioned in the book that Anne staved with in the big city for a while was named Arthur. I knew Mr. and Mrs. Charles Partlan well and their children. Of course, time and everyone moving in different parts of town years go by and only once in a while do I run across them. Marion Warner, who worked at WKNY, was a granddaughter of Charles and Nellie Partlan. It seems strange how a book had to come to the Kingston Library of such a famous author as O. Henry and in it a name of a Kingston lady. Perhaps many other folks read Dale Kramer's The Heart of O. Henry but did not notice the Partlan lady as being from Ulster county. It took observing George O'Neill of 52 Maiden Lane to catch the name and home county and then go back through the book once more to recopy many of the parts where Miss Partlan is mentioned. It isn't everyone who can say, "I knew O. Henry," but Anne Partlan can.

Mr. and Mrs. George Tierney were telling me about managing the famous old Huntington for the past four years and how they had seen quite a lot of old books and furniture there when they first came there. I have never read a complete history of the Huntington but have heard a little here and there. It was always known as a quiet boarding house for retired folks of good standing and some very prominent people have called it their home. Perhaps some day someone will gather a lot of information on it and put it all together. I remember I visited there once and am sure was shown an old-fashioned sleigh bed with lovely inlaid work. No doubt there were many fine antique items from the good olden days. I know back in 1925 the Huntington was owned and run by the Carlton S. Prestons. It is located only a half a block away from the Governor Clinton, at 23-25 Pearl street and of course within walking distance of the uptown business section and now the new Empire Market block of stores. One of the famous couples to stay at the Huntington in the 1920's was Rear Admiral Francis Higginson, USN, and his wife, Grace.

To Use Exchange Idea

Albany, Feb. 17 (AP)—The state social welfare commissioner said today that about 35 welfare departments and private agencies would participate in a statewide adoption exchange for hard-to-place children this year. Raymond W. Houston said in an address prepared for delivery at a meeting of the New York Public Welfare Assn., that his department had assigned adoption consultants to each of its offices at Albany, Buffalo and New York city. Houston said that youngsters with physical, emotional and other handicaps and children with mixed racial and national backgrounds were among those hard to place.

New Celery Cutter

Byron Center, Mich. (AP)—The Lubber Brothers—Garrett, Jay and Bernard— got tired of the tedious job of cutting celery, and invented what they claim is the first machine-operated celery picker. They used to harvest three-quarters of an acre a day from their 70-acres of celery. Now, Jay says, they can cover 1½ acres daily. The Garrett machine shears the celery plants with two hydraulically operated V-shaped cutting blades. The forward motion of the machine forces the celery up into a chute. Conveyors carry the plants to workers who trim excess foliage. The celery then is thrown to another belt which loads it on wagons. The Garretts say they built their machine for $2,000.

Heart Fund Seeks $11,000 in County

A goal of $8,000 for the current heart program and $3,000 additional for a special research grant for Ulster county has been established for the 1955 Heart Fund campaign which is being conducted locally throughout the month of February, it has been announced by S. James Matthews, Heart Fund chairman.

He emphasized that a major portion of all contributions will be used to advance heart projects in this community and this state, with the remainder going to support nationwide research, education and community heart programs in the American Heart Association with which the Ulster County Heart Chapter is an affiliate.

BY A CONTRIBUTION to the Heart Chapter Fund the donor will help to provide current health information to the profession and to the public through classes, films, leaflets, speakers, etc.; to make possible heart service to county persons referred by their doctor for free diagnostic procedures and tests for rheumatic and other heart diseases and to have a part in medical research as well as for the special projects for Ulster county.

HEART FUND SEEKS 2

Since it became a national voluntary health agency in 1948, Matthews said, the American Heart Association and its affiliates have channeled more than $8,000,000 into medical research looking toward the prevention and control of diseases of the heart and blood vessels.

"Research," Matthews said, "is the cornerstone of the heart program. Although medical science has made tremendous strides forward, much remains to be accomplished. As a matter of fact, the basic cause of rheumatic fever, high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries—conditions responsible for 90 per cent of all heart disease—are not yet known. Accordingly, research fully warrants the high priority it is given by your Heart Association."

The Heart Fund, he explained, also supports programs of public and professional education, the former being addressed to a broader public understanding of the heart problem and to the elimination of harmful misconceptions and the latter being devoted to the speedy and accurate transmission of the latest scientific information to physicians and other scientific groups.

"Finally," Matthews explained, "our rapidly-developing community heart programs are applying new knowledge at the local level to protect healthy hearts and to enable heart sufferers to continue as useful and productive members of human society."

Opera Is Switched

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—A respiratory illness of Italian soprano Renata Tebaldi, scheduled to sing the title role in Verdi's "Aida" for the first time at the Metropolitan Opera, resulted in a switch to Puccini's "Tosca" with Zinka Milanov as the featured singer. Miss Milanov was called for the substitution less than eight hours before curtain time last night. She never had sung "Tosca" at the Met. The management, with a sellout audience eager to hear Miss Tebaldi, decided on a complete change of operas. Met officials said only a few persons asked for refunds.

Immunity Bill Offered

Albany, Feb. 17 (AP) — A bill under which radio and television stations no longer would be liable for statements made over the air by bona fide candidates for public office was before the Senate today. The station, in order to be absolved of liability for defamatory statements would have to broadcast at the beginning and end of the speech an announcement disclaiming responsibility. The measure, sponsored by Assemblywomen Frances K. Marlatt, Westchester Republican, was approved unanimously by the Assembly Tuesday. The present law does not establish the station's position with regard to a candidate's speech which, under Federal Communications Commission rules, may not be censored by the station management.

Use Puff Shells to Serve Spiced Pear-Crab Salad

SPICED CANNED PEARS on top of crab salad served in cream-puff shells makes a special buffet-supper treat.

Here's a special buffet supper suggestion—spiced canned pears on top of crab salad served in cream-puff shells. It comes from Emma States of Seattle, who reminds us that 95 per cent of canned Bartlett pears come from the Pacific coast.

Spiced Pears

One No. 2½ can Bartlett pears, juice from can, ¼ cup vinegar or sweet pickle juice, 1 stick cinnamon or ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon, 8 whole cloves.

Heat fruit juice. Add spices. Simmer for 5 minutes. Add vinegar or sweet pickle juice. Pour over pears. Chill overnight.

Cream Puffs

One cup water, ½ cup butter or margarine, 1 cup sifted flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 4 eggs.

Heat water and butter or margarine to boiling point. Stir in flour. Stir constantly until mixture leaves sides of pan and forms a ball (about 1 minute). Remove from heat. Cool slightly.

Beat in eggs one at a time. Beat mixture until smooth and velvety. Drop batter from spoon onto greased baking sheet. Bake in 400 degrees F. oven until dry, about 45 minutes. Allow to cool slowly.

Crab Salad

One and one-half cups crab meat, ½ cup diced celery, ¼ cup sliced sweet pickle, 1 cup shredded cabbage, ½ cup mayonnaise, dash of salt, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, endive for garnish.

Combine all ingredients and toss lightly. Fill the puffs and garnish with endive or other salad greens. Top with spiced pears.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Oven - broiled chicken, spiced pears, baked potatoes, canned baby peas, soft rolls, butter or margarine, chocolate cream pie, coffee, tea, milk.

Population Increasing

The population of the U. S. Pacific Coast areas is increasing at the rate of 3.7 per cent a year, about double the national average.

'Y' Directors Hold Meeting

The YMCA Board of Directors held its February meeting in the Hi-Y room last evening with 10 directors present along with two staff members.

Special reports came from William Randall on the activities in the boy's division, which included the World Service program of the YMCA in which the boys are selling soap with the proceeds going to this special cause. Every YMCA in the United States supports this program. Donald Beesmer, an eight year old boy in the preps group, presented President Rylance with $100 in one dollar bills as their contribution to the world service.

Secretary Schafer told of the fine work that many men in the Industrial Management Club were doing on a work project for the club. They are putting in two or three evenings each week and painting: the general secretary's office, the physical directors' office and the directors' meeting room. This work is appreciated by the board of directors.

Members in attendance were: President Elmer Rylance, Secretary Clifford Smith, Alfred Schmid, James Tobin, William O'Reilly, Jack Haulenbeek, Clarence Dumm, Alfred Harder, Herman Schwenk, Emil Boessneck, Louis H. Schafer, general secretary and William Randall, boy's and youth secretary.

Has Called Conference

Albany, Feb. 17 (AP)—Gov. Harriman has called a fact-finding conference March 16 to determine how to deal with alleged frauds in the sale, promotion and serving of home appliances. Charles Van DeVander, Harriman's press secretary, said last night that Mrs. Persia Campbell, the governor's special aide on consumer problems, was organizing the all-day meeting. Spokesmen for the home-appliance industry, advertising groups, labor, consumers and better business bureaus have been invited to attend, Van Devander said.

Work Is Shown

Arnold Blanch, Edward Chavez and Doris Lee, Woodstock, N. Y., are among the 129 painters and 16 sculptors whose work is included in the 1955 Illinois Exhibition of Contemporary American Painting and Sculpture opening at the University of Illinois, Feb. 27. The painting and sculpture exhibition is a feature of the University of Illinois' seventh Festival of Contemporary Arts Feb. 25 through April 3.

The Mature Parent

Harmony With Daughter Who Earns Way, Lives Home

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mary P. is 22 and a secretary. Recently when her salary was raised to $60 a week, her parents asked her to begin to pay them for her room and board. She agreed.

But since that time she has grown so critical of her home and the way her parents run it that her mother writes: "Now that she's paying her own way, nothing we have or do suits her. Was it wrong to ask Mary for this money?"

Not in my opinion. I should say that it's time Mary learned to live on realistic income, not on an inflated one that discounts the costs of shelter and food.

However, sharing in the support of her parents' home is not so simple for Mary as we might think.

All her life this home has provided her with free food and shelter. Because they have been given, Mary has not questioned how the food was cooked and the shelter decorated.

Now the momentum of years is suddenly changed. Mary pays for what she receives. It is no longer a gift, but a purchase.

Like other purchasers, she's begun to question the worth of what she's buying. Asked to give adult responsibility, she's feeling a need for more authority.

I expect that this young woman may really want a home of her own. And dares not say so to her parents.

When a firm of construction engineers wants to build a new apartment building, what is the first thing they do? They begin to attack an old one, don't they? We don't get angry; we know that they have a new one in mind.

Well, children of Mary's age are bound to have new buildings in mind, too.

When they start smashing at our homes by unkind criticism, it is apt to be because they dare not say: "Dear parents, though I love you and your home, my biological impulses now require me to be more interested in loving someone else and the home I shall have with him."

If we understand this, we can find the way to persuade Mary to put this want of hers into words instead of acting it out in hurtful behavior.

Once she knows that we accept this want of her own home, she will find it easier to accept ours until she gets it. Once she's sure that we acknowledge her right to more authority in ours, she may lose much of her resentment at her new financial responsibility.

But if sentimental hurt at her criticism keeps us blind to Mary's point of view, we may find it hard to work out our altered relationship to the self-supporting child who lives with us.

Vigilantes on the Road

Cardiff, Calif. (AP)—A mothers' vigilante committee is active here to curb reckless drivers who endanger their children. Mrs. Grace Peterson, spokesman for the commitee, said each member carries pencil and pad to jot down license numbers of automobile owners violating safety rules. They report the numbers to the state highway patrol.

Acheson, Truman Still in Agreement

Kansas City, Feb. 17 (AP)—After being out of office more than two years, Harry S. Truman and his former secretary of state, Dean Acheson, are still in agreement.

Acheson, visiting the Trumans this week, appeared at a press conference with the former President yesterday. Truman, who is 70, was asked about his future plans. He replied with a quip he's used before:

"I shall run for President the year I'm 90."

Said Acheson: "If Mr. Truman is elected at 90, I shall be happy to serve with him."

BOTH FEEL Adlai Stevenson is the best choice for the 1956 Democratic presidential candidate.

Acheson told newsmen the foreign policies of the Truman and Eisenhower administrations are basically the same. But he said the present policy is not being pursued "as rigorously or effectively" as the former.

Acheson and his wife plan to return to Washington Saturday.

Animals Are Left By Accord Man

An Accord resident was arrested Sunday for abandonment of animals, according to Ray Winne, chief agent of the Ulster County ASPCA, who said he left a mother dog and two pups several days without food, water or shelter.

Winne said that he and state police from Ellenville station arrested Myron Avery on the charge, after complaints from neighbors, who told the officers they fed the dogs.

Avery pleaded innocent when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Percy Gazlay, Accord, after his arrest, but changed it to guilty at a hearing yesterday. A $10 fine was suspended.

Winne said he took the two three-month old puppies to the ASPCA shelter at his home on the Brabrant road. The mother was killed by an automobile on the highway, he said, after the complaint had been made about the abandonment of the animals.

More Judgeships

court" system with the county courts to specialize in cases involving youthful offenses.

The commission recommended that new Supreme Court seats be established as follows:

Four for the First Judicial District, consisting of Bronx and New York counties; six for the Second District, made up of Brooklyn and Staten Island; six for the Tenth District, comprising Nassau, Queens and Suffolk counties.

Two for the Fifth District, made up of Herkimer, Jefferson, Lewis, Oneida, Onondaga and Oswego counties; two for the Eighth District, consisting of Allegany, Cattaraugus, Chautaqua, Erie, Genesee, Niagara, Orleans and Wyoming counties; and one for the Ninth District, composed of Dutchess, Orange, Putnam, Rockland and Westchester counties.

Under the deal reported under discussion, each major party would agree to endorse the other's candidates for seats, with these expected results:

Republicans would get two seats in the First District, two in the Second, four in the Tenth and three upstate. Democrats would get two in the First, four in the Second, two in the Tenth and two upstate.

Members of the commission are reported to have no part in any such arrangement. It is said to be under discussion by leaders of both party organizations.

The commission did not recommend a date for putting the plan into effect. However, it said immediate action was needed to reduce calendar congestion in the courts.

If the Legislature were to adopt the plan at the present session, it presumably would create the 21 vacancies as of next Jan. 1. That would mean the seats would be filled at next fall's general election.

The commission's proposal would increase the number of Supreme Court seats from 132 to 153, or 94 fewer than the 247 permitted by the state constitution on the basis of one justice for each 60,000 population.

Supreme Court justices are elected for 14-year terms. They are paid $28,000 a year in New York city and on Long Island, and $23,000 a year upstate.

Convention . . .

San Francisco to the full committee.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER arranged to deliver an off-the-record talk at a closed luncheon meeting of the GOP committee.

Hall, in a speech prepared for the session, heaped praise on Eisenhower as "the greatest leader of our times" and appealed to his fellow committeemen:

"Let's sell Republicanism as we never have before. And we can do it under the leadership of one of the greatest men any party ever had — Dwight D. Eisenhower—if we follow him."

Hall, who says he assumes Eisenhower will run for a second term, also hit at dissenters within the party who, he said, "haven't caught up with the facts of life."

WITHOUT NAMING THEM, he said "these little groups don't trouble me—they have always been with us. Every nation and every political party has had them.

Up until last week San Francisco had not been considered in the GOP convention picture. Only Chicago and Philadelphia had made formal bids of $250,000 each weeks ago and these were repeated yesterday.

Hall credited Mayor Elmer Robinson with spearheading the drive for selection of San Francisco. The city sent a representative here yesterday offering to match the $250,000 bids of the other cities and promising the GOP rent-free use of the city's Cow Palace. A huge structure built for cattle shows and other expositions and having a seating capacity of close to 17,000.

COOL WEATHER and an option on 10,000 hotel rooms also were held out as inducements.

San Francisco has had only one national nominating convention, that was in 1920 when the Democrats selected Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio to run for president with Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York on the ticket for vice president. That ticket lost.

Hall told newsmen the laws of Massachusetts, South Dakota, Ohio, and possibly Connecticut regarding certification of candidates for the ballot might interfere with holding a convention as late as Aug. 20, but it was his understanding these matters would be "cleared up" in time.

BY MEETING in separate cities in 1956 the two parties will be departing from recent practice. Both met in Chicago in 1952 and 1944 and in Philadelphia in 1948, sharing in the expense of preparing the hall.

Hall spoke of a streamlined convention next year lasting four days. He added informal consideration had been given to having daily sessions from 2 p. m. to 7 p. m., Pacific Time, which would fix the eastern seaboard television coverage during the prime viewing period between 5 and 10 p. m., Eastern Time.

Would Cut Projects

Albany, Feb. 17 (AP)—Gov. Harriman indicated today that he would cut state road-building projects unless the Legislature approved his demand for a two-cent-a-gallon increase in the gasoline tax. Harriman was asked at a news conference for comment on predictions by Republican leaders that the GOP-controlled Legislature would reject his request that the gasoline tax increase and a three-cent-a-gallon boost in the diesel fuel levy be put into effect April 1.

Police Ask . . .

cord from a Venetian blind and he had been gagged with extra-wide adhesive tape.

Detectives said similar cord and tape were found in Scholz' home where he lives with his wife and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hays.

SCHOLZ ALSO TOLD of planning to kidnap gambler Frank Costello but of switching his plans in favor of Rubinstein, World War 2 draft dodger.

Authorities promised no immediate arrests in the Rubinstein murder. Discussing Scholz, Asst. Dist. Atty. Alexander Herman said:

"We are not sure he told us all the people he discussed this with. You know, he's a sharp thinker."

Authorities now are asking Scholz questions about the $38,000 robbery on Feb. 10, 1948, of the Bank of Manhattan branch in Whitestone, Queens, and the $19,400 holdup of the Woodside Savings and Loan Assn. on Jan. 2, 1951.

AT THE TIME of the Bank of Manhattan robbery, Scholz had a part-time job in a dry cleaning shop next to the bank.

Scholz was arrested March 30, 1923, in Sandusky, Ohio, under the name of Herman Schultz, charged with entering and stealing, and placed on probation.

On June 3 of the same year he drew a suspended reformatory sentence for larceny at Toledo, Ohio.

On Oct. 6, 1923, he was given two to five years in the Arizona state prison for jail breaking. The record does not say what Scholz was imprisoned for in the first place.

On Dec. 31, 1929, Scholz received a suspended sentence for felonious assault in Queens. The charge was the outcome of a street fight.

Neighbors of Scholz know him as a kindly, considerate, and dependable person.

Scholz' father-in-law, Samuel Hays, termed the picking up of his son-in-law "a great surprise to us," and added:

"He is a quiet man who keeps everything in his head and doesn't talk much. He's a fellow with a lot of brains."

Man Arrested As Drunk Driver

Albert Weiss, 42, of RD 4, Box 48, Kingston, was arrested early yesterday afternoon by Officer John Crespino at Washington avenue and Joy's Lane on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Arraigned today before City Judge Raymond J. Mino as a second offender, he waived examination and was held for the grand jury.

Police said he had been convicted of a drunken driving charge on Oct. 6, 1954 in a justice's court, town of Ulster.

JOHN GENTILE, 26, of 192 Schaeffer street, Brooklyn, was arrested early yesterday afternoon on a third degree assault charge following a reported snowball incident on Clinton avenue.

The complainant is John Terrance "Terry" Kelly, 13, of 165 Pearl street, son of Attorney William A. Kelly, who had complained that he had been struck in the mouth after throwing a snowball against a tree near the Governor Clinton Pharmacy.

Gentile pleaded innocent in court today and Judge Mino put the case over to Feb. 19 for trial.

A POLICE REPORT on the snowball incident said that William Ryan, 13, of 187 Wall street, had been tossing snowballs with Kelly at the time. They said they were throwing them against a tree and that the man might have been hit by scattering particles, as one hit the tree.

The report said Ryan complained of having been grabbed and pushed around, and it noted that the two followed the man to Wall street where he got in a car. They made note of the license number.

Attorney Kelly appeared for his son in city court and S. James Matthews represented the district attorney's office.

Chidlaw Visits PoughkeepsieIBM

General B. W. Chidlaw, commanding general, Air Defense Command and his staff were visitors at the IBM plant in Poughkeepsie today where they were shown the manufacturing facilities there and viewed plans for the Kingston IBM plant here which will manufacture items to supply defense contracts which the company holds.

Thomas J. Watson, Jr., president of IBM, William J. Mair, IBM vice-president and general manager, Poughkeepsie and Gavin A. Cullen, general manager of the IBM plant here, were on hand to greet the visitors who comprised high ranking officers of both the United States and Canadian services.

Following a plant tour and talks made by Kingston and Poughkeepsie IBM personnel, the group were guests at a luncheon held in their honor at the IBM Research Laboratory. Following this, they returned to Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh.

There's a difference: Wear a shower cap for showers, a bathing cap for swimming. Both are inexpensive.

Egypt Makes Movies

Cairo (AP)—This city's steadily-expanding cinema industry is giving Cairo the name "Hollywood of the Middle East." Eighty per cent of films shown in Egypt are locally made. Egyptian films dominate the Arabic-language movie markets of Turkey, Iran, and Indonesia and Kenya. Eight movie studios produce 70 films yearly, and may turn out 85 in 1955. American film companies also are active. Among others, "The Valley of the Kings," "Sinuhe the Egyptian," and "Joseph in Egypt" have been made in the past year. "The Ten Commandments" is in production.

Kansas was part of the Louisiana Purchase.

More Printers Sought

Detroit (AP) — A steadily increasing shortage of skilled journeymen is causing serious concern to the printing industry. A report to the Printing Industry of America indicated that the ratio of apprentices in the industry should be 1 to 5 but is only 1 to 10. The report showed that 23 per cent of the workers in the unionized commercial printing and lithographing industries are older than 55, and that 30 per cent will leave the industry in the next 10 years.

Dog on the Carpet

Worcester, Mass. (AP) — Wiggles, a 9-month-old mongrel dog, is building quite a display of rugs in the Joseph R. Mahoney home —and Mahoney doesn't know where they're coming from. He says the dog has dragged at least half a dozen scatter rugs, some evidently costly, onto the Mahoney premises in recent months. Wiggles apparently works far afield as neighbors canvassed by the Mahoney children reported no losses.

Death Valley, Calif., has an average of only half an inch of rain from April through September each year.

Review Seminar Set For Engineers of Area

Middletown, Feb. 17—A review seminar (Part II) for engineers interested in preparing for the New York State Professional Engineers License has been announceed by the extension division of Orange County Community College. This seminar is planned to help prepare engineers for Part 3 of the Licensing examination. It is open to all qualified engineers, whether or not they have taken the previous seminar (Part I) which has just been completed. This was also given at the college and attended by 27 engineers from Orange, Sullivan and Dutchess counties. The dates for the New York State Professional Engineers Examination are June 27 and 28 of this year.

This second seminar will concern itself with reviewing the fundamentals and solving typical problems in economics, and civil and electrical engineering. Members of the Orange County Community College Engineering Department, as well as other specialists in the engineering field, will instruct. The class is limited to 30 students, and applications will be accepted in order of their receipt. Further information may be obtained from George B. Erbstein, director of the Extension Division, at the Community College in Middletown.

Sea Earthquakes

Most earthquakes occur beneath the sea. While usually less destructive than those that hit populated land areas, they may wreak havoc through huge sea or tidal waves that inundate coastal settlements.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patent Office) By JIMMY HATLO

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

One of the interesting things about human psychology, as it relates to social and politico-economic affairs, is the manner in which people become indifferent and unconcerned about matters which previously stirred them up.

This comes to mind at the moment because of two unreleated conditions.

One is the turnouver in the Russian hierarchy and the other is in the field of monetary economics.

The shifts in the Red regime made headlines, of course, but aside from various columnists' interpretations, the news actually has excited the country very little. There have been no "jitters" over the event. We have become so accustomed to shocks from the doings of the Communists that we are growing immune.

I suppose there are two ways to look at this. You might say it is a good thing that we do not get all "het up" over what the commies do; it is better if we go along our own way and let Russia go hers. On the other hand, to use a trite expression, there is some danger in this because we can easily become lulled into a false sense of security. It has already veered in that direction abroad, I think. The people of Great Britain and western Europe certainly do not look upon the commies with the dread which we have felt here. Only a day or two ago, for example, the Ruminator received a letter from an old friend in England excoriating Joe McCarthy for his demagogic activities. (This friend knew from some of my comments that I was not an anti-McCarthyite). He apparently thinks we Americans have allowed ourselves to build up a frantic hysteria against Communists, "whom," he writes, "you seem to see in every dark corner, and even in some of the light ones."

It is debatable, in my mind, whether it is going to be healthier for Americans to become indifferent and callous to the danger of communism. I should say it is NOT debatable in my mind, for I feel we cannot minimize the danger—but it is apparently debatable in many people's minds.

In any event, it is an interesting psychological phenomenon how given trends of feeling change under repetitive conditions. It is the basis for the Aesop fable of "Wolf, Wolf."

Turning to monetary economics, you find a similar "indifference" growing toward the question of "What is sound money; and how much is a 'little' inflation?"

Having passed through twenty years of "managed currency" (since FDR took the nation off the free gold standard), without having experienced a run-away inflation—and at the same time, having enjoyed a prolonged era of prosperity—people in general, as well as businessmen and government officials, have got into the frame of mind that "a little inflation is a good thing."

Moreover, there is little conception of the fact that a large proportion of our prosperity has been, and is being, built upon debts.

We are falling, the Ruminator's afraid, for the fallacious theory of a "controlled inflation." As the "Guaranty Survey" points out, "the theory of 'controlled inflation' is unrealistic—and is based upon false premises."

It is frightening to think of the only way we shall learn that a bootstrap economy can only hold up as long as one of the straps doesn't break. We shall learn it, of course, when the debt structure becomes top-heavy and falls; and when inflation becomes ignited to the point where prices rise rapidly.

Now I grant you that this does not appear to be in early prospect. But eventually we'll have to pay the price for a prosperity which is based upon unsound principles.

There does not seem to be much likelihood of people getting stirred up over our present monetary system. Everything is running smoothly at present, and the slow inflation appears innocent enough.

It is interesting to compare the present to the eras of the 1870's and 1890's. People really got agitated over monetary matters back in those decades! In the 1870's because of the experiences with "greenbacks" which had been issued during the war and had caused inflation and speculation. The result of the agitation was a return to the gold standard in 1879. In the 1890's there was a great public to-do over the silver question. When McKinley was elected on a "gold platform" it killed the silver question for many years.

This writer wishes people would become agitated over "money" once again!

WEEKLY FOOD REVIEW

(By The Associated Press)

The nation's food stores, with an eye on George Washington's birthday next Tuesday, are planning specials on smoked hams this weekend. In several areas, turkeys also will be featured attractions.

In some stores, the lower weekend prices will hold good until Monday night because of the forthcoming holiday.

TURKEYS WILL BE available in all sizes, and in some cases prices will be down around eight cents a pound from a week ago. Smoked hams will be available at a reduction of 10 cents a pound in a number of markets.

If you want to stay with the favorites, you'll find featured prices in many stores on ribs of beef, legs of lamb and a variety of steaks. Pork loins, lamb chops and various cuts of veal also will be offered at lower prices here and there.

Lamb prices generally will be about the same as a week ago, but retailers say that they should come down a bit during the coming week because of a decline at wholesale. One large chain is raising prices on pork chops this week in a number of its outlets by around six cents a pound.

THE MEAT INDUSTRY reports that retail prices of the 14 most popular meat cuts now average lower than at any time during the past year. Pork contributed most to the declines—prices are down 10 to 26 per cent from a year ago. Frankfurters are a pretty good buy, too. They're about six cents a pound under year-ago prices.

Once again, egg prices are moving higher. Increases of four to six cents a dozen are being posted by a major chain.

One of the biggest food successes of the past year has been fish sticks. Figures released this week show that while only 7½ million pounds of fish sticks were produced in 1953, the total soared to 50 million pounds last year. Frozen food men say that mothers who have trouble getting their children to eat fish usually find they have large appetites for fish sticks.

INCIDENTALLY, there will be plenty of seafood for the lenten season. There are big supplies of frozen fish in storage, including large quantities of halibut and haddock fillets. Frozen shrimp also is plentiful. Prices will be moderate.

The list of good buys in vegetables is rather slim this week—potatoes, onions, turnips, new and old cabbage, carrots, escarole, Michigan hothouse rhubarb and greens. Blame it on the winter weather.

Cauliflower, celery, sweet potatoes and cucumbers showed moderate price advances at wholesale during the week. Beets and broccoli remained about the same. Produce men say beans available now are only of fair quality and they note a wide range of quality and prices in tomatoes.

Spring may not be too far away: Asparagus from California reached New York markets this week by air, and the first canteloupes have been shipped from Mexico.

The good buys in fruit include grapefruit, oranges, tangerines and apples. Emperor grapes are available at rather attractive prices.

Tipsy Mumps

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP) — The man told the judge a high fever induced by the mumps accounted for his high reading on the city drunkometer. It was a new o[illegible] but Judge H. O. Pollard wasn't impressed. The fine was $75.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Flower Paintings Replace Landscapes

Woodstock, Feb. 16—A collection of landscapes by the late John Carlson, including his Altman Prize painting of Winter in Woodstock, and a much admired large landscape by Frank S. Chase in the foyer of Kingston's Community Theatre, will be replaced by an exhibition of Woodstock flower paintings to open Wednesday night, Feb. 16, in connection with the Ulster Garden Club's sponsored showing of the English film, The Holly and the Ivy. Included besides flower paintings will be a collection of paintings of Italian gardens in Florence, Rome and Capri by Julius Rolshoven.

Included in the show are the following paintings: Bird of Paradise Plant, Horseshoe Crabs and Shells, Dahlias by Neil Ives; Dogwood by Rose Wood; Bouquet by Harvey Emrich; Peonies, Delphinium by Marie Arndt; Antique Flowers by Paul Arndt; Capri Gardens by Julius Roshoven; Place Garden, Florence by Julius Roshoven; Garden with Ancient Well, Florence by Julius Rolshoven; Flowers next a Canal, Venice by Julius Rolshoven; and Steps to the Sea, Capri by Julius Rolshoven. The Metropolitan Museum in New York recently acquired a Fiesta scene in Taos, New Mexico by Rolshoven.

Girl Scouts Fete Guests at Party

Woodstock, Feb. 16—On Valentine's Day, from 7 to 9 p. m. at the Woodstock gym, the girls of Girl Scout Troop 12 entertained their fathers, a few uncles and grandfathers, and guests. After an hour of fun with games, everyone relaxed to music played by two troop members, Ellen and Elsie Ross. Each girl played accordion solos followed by duets. Four sets enjoyed square dancing. The girls then served refreshments to their dates. Among the guests were George Neher, James Kinns, Harold Mellin, John Holumzer, Thomas Dendy, J. C. Van Rijn, Albert Hoffman, Roy Hoffman, Roy Butz, Charles Steele, Edward Shults, Charles Rapp, Henry Paige, Kenneth Hefty, Harmon Fischer, Kenneth Martin, Edward Ross, Irving Cousins and William Werner. The party closed with a serenade to the girls by their guests.

Troop 12 elected the following new officers last week: Joan Wilson, treasurer; Selma Dendy, scribe; Patrol 1—Leader, Ann Haeussler, Assistant, Lynn Kinns; Patrol 2—Leader, Barbara Longyear, Assistant, Diane Shults; Patrol 3—Leader, Ginny Martin, Assistant, Marilyn Wolven.

On Friday afternoon, seven girls of Troop 12 who are working on the Reader badge went to the Library. Mrs. Charles Rapp, who is a librarian, explained the uses of the Card Catalog. Mrs. Lynn Wells, librarian, answered a few questions and the girls inspected the library's facilities. The girls who took part were: Ann Haeussler, Selma Dendy, Judy Rapp, Jean Wilson, Carol Hefty, Doris Mellin and Valerie Fischer.

Last week the members of of Brownie Troop 82 went to visit the sheep and lambs at the farm of Birge Simmons in Bearsville. The members of the troop have been decorating candies and made valentines at their last meeting.

Overlook Bureau Names Leaders

Woodstock, Feb. 16—At a meeting of the Overlook Home Bureau Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Victor Allen, an election of officers was held. They are Mrs. Harry Kennedy, chairman; Mrs. Robert Rifenberg, vice-chairman; Mrs. David Bird, secretary; Mrs. Joseph Holdridge, Jr., treasurer; Mrs. Victor Allen, publicity; Mrs. Anne Gardner, sunshine chairman.

There was a discussion on the future program during the meet- and and two new members were welcomed. They were Mrs. James Kinns and Mrs. Roger Vandemark, both of Woodstock.

Passenger Trouble

Montgomery, Ala. (AP)—Lawrence Colley was brought into traffic court and officers testified he was charged with reckless driving, driving without a license and without tags after his car had run 40 feet off the road, torn down a fence and plowed into a tree. His defense was that his girl friend "was holding me too tight and I just couldn't hold her and the wheel, too." Judge John B. Scott fined Colley $50 on the license and tag charges but ruled him innocent of reckless driving because "I'm convinced it could have happened as he said."

CARD-LOVING FRIENDS

A reader writes as follows: "Will you please tell me what I can say to friends of ours who, five minutes after their arrival at our house, suggest playing cards? They'd rather play cards than eat, I think. While my husband and I do not mind playing occasionally, there are times when we are not in the mood for cards and would rather just sit and talk or watch television. Is it absolutely necessary that we comply with the wishes of our guests, or may we tell them quite frankly that we would rather not play cards this one time?"

I think the best thing to do is to be frank and say, "I really don't think I could concentrate on cards tonight. Would you mind terribly if we don't play?"

May Reply Be Telephoned?

Dear Mrs. Post: I always telephone an acceptance, or regret, to all invitations that are not written in the third person. Am I wrong in doing this? A friend tells me that even replies to formal third person invitations may be telephoned on occasion and that it is not a case of how the invitation is worded, but of how well you know the hostess.

Answer: Your friend is right. We are much more inclined to write to a hostess we know slightly and to telephone someone who is an intimate friend. The principal rule is to answer promptly.

Concerning the Wearing of a Wrist Watch

Dear Mrs. Post: I was criticized the other day for wearing my wrist watch on my right arm. This person told me that the only correct place for a wrist watch was on the left arm. True, most people do wear it there, but is this a definite rule?

Answer: There is no rule that I know of except the rule of safety (for the watch) since most people use their right arm so much more than their left.

The class of '55 of New Paltz High School is presenting the senior play, Dear Ruth, at 8 p. m. Saturday, in the high school auditorium. Tickets can now be purchased from any senior. They will also be on sale at the door, the night of the play.

Dear Ruth is a comedy about World War 2. The story concerns a young girl, Miriam, Ruth's younger sister, who corresponds with servicemen overseas. This brings about a series of hilarious complications.

Starring in the play are: Marilyn Frisch as the lovable Ruth; Robert Hicks as the understanding father, Judge Wilkins; Ellen Nerz as her mother, Edith Wilkins; Marjorie Heroy as the devilish, younger sister, Miriam; Florence Triolo as Martha; James Dodd as Lt. William Seawright; Richard Davis as Albert Kumner, Ruth's fiance; Jack Klix as Harold Klobbermeyer; JoAnn Oakley as Dora, and William Coon as Sgt. Chuck Vincent. SCOUTS INVITED—Miss Lorraine Etienne and Miss Carol Rylance, co-chairman, display the poster for the Ivy Ball, Senior Girl Scout activity to be held Tuesday evening at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Standing are Miss Gail Pieper, decorations chairman, and Miss Carolee Leware, hospitality chairman. (Freeman photo)

Senior Scouts Plan To Inaugurate Ball As Annual Activity

Miss Carol Rylance and Miss Lorraine Etienne, co-chairmen, and the members of their committees have issued invitations to the Ivy Ball, sponsored by the Ulster County Senior Girl Scouts, to be held in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel, Tuesday, to all senior scouts in the county. Dancing will be from 8:30-11:30 p. m. with music furnished by Johnny Michael's.

THE IVY BALL, initial venture sponsored jointly by the Ulster County Girl Scout Council and the Ulster County Senior Girl Scout Planning Board, brings together socially Senior Girl Scouts within the entire Council area. The name, Ivy Ball, was selected by the group, in keeping with the traditional exchanging of the ivy and snowdrop upon this day, designated as International Thinking Day in Scouting.

Although International Friendship is an integral part of the Scouting program, the month of February is singled out for special emphasis upon this phase of Scouting. The date, February 22, marks the birthday anniversary of both Lord and Lady Baden-Powell, founders of the Girl and Boy Scout movements and since 1926 has been set aside as International Thinking Day in commemoration of this dual event. In view of the significance of this day, the group plans to initiate the Ivy Ball as an annual custom for Senior Girl Scouts of Ulster county.

ASSISTING in the planning of the affair are the following committees: Gari Storhaug and Mary Whitford, music; Gail Peipper, Mary McDermott, Helen McDermott, Mary Ann Richards, and Gail Keator, favors and decorations; Ruth Heidgerd, Mary Ann Richards and Carol Kinkade, tickets; Carolee Leware, members of the Senior Planning Board, and Judy Scism, hospitality; Carolyn Stark, Mary Jacobson and Jean Chipp, refreshments.

Quill Assails Reuther 'Sellout'

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—Michael J. Quill, president of the CIO Transport Workers Union, accuses CIO President Walter Reuther of a "sellout" in agreeing to merge the CIO with the AFL.

Quill also says Reuther is trying to run the TWU convention here "through remote control from Detroit."

To these and other charges, Reuther says: "May the Lord forgive Brother Quill, for he knows not what he doeth."

Reuther's comment was released at the convention by a CIO aide yesterday after Quill had tongue-lashed Reuther and the AFL. Reuther was not at the convention.

After an impassioned speech by Quill, the delegates representing 170,000 TWU members voted 392 to 18 against merger on the basis agreed upon in Miami Beach last week. The CIO has about five million members; the AFL 10 million.

AFTER TWO DAYS of debate, the TWU convention adopted a resolution placing the union on record as refusing to become part of the projected labor federation until there are guarantees against racial discrimination, union raiding and racketeering, among other things.

The resolution was the first action on the merger plans taken by a major union.

Quill, a CIO vice president, told the convention that the labor unity plan was a "surrender." He said Reuther had presented one merger plan—containing the guarantees the TWU wants—to CIO vice presidents while agreeing to a weaker arrangement with the AFL.

Quill said Reuther was, in effect, running out on the CIO, while at the same time leading the organization into a "blind alley merger with the AFL."

The TWU president demanded that Reuther quit the presidency of the United Automobile Workers "and give us full-time leadership within the merged movement and not leave us to the wolves."

An AFL spokesman in Washington said the organization would have no comment on Quill's remarks.

Tillson 4-H Card Party

The Tillson Busy Beavers 4-H Club will sponsor a card party at the Tillson School Saturday evening, February 19 beginning at 8:15. Refreshments will be served. The proceeds will go toward the camp fund.

Eggs have two important B vitamins, thiamine and riboflavin, as well as vitamins A and D.

Three Selections

cialists 4, Catholic Popular Republican Movement (MRP) 4, Radical Socialists 4, URAS 1, and the small leftist Union of Democratic and Socialists Resistance (UDSR) 2.

Without Gaubert, this was the lineup of the other 18 secretaries of state, whose posts are below ministerial rank but are part of the government: Socialists 6, Radical Socialists 5, MRP 4, URAS 1 and USDR 2.

Before the URAS defection, the most favorable estimates had given Pineau less than 320 supporting votes in the 627-member chapel. With likely abstentions, that should have assured his confirmation but promised a shaky government with a brief life expectancy.

When Congress has set the course and voted funds for the various activities of the budget, control of expenditures shifts back to the executive branch.

Y Newcomers Club Hold Card Party, Spring Fashion Show

A fashion show by the Junior Deb Shoppe was held in connection with a dessert card party Tuesday at the YWCA sponsored by the Newcomers Club.

More than 100 members and guests attended the event, which featured a showing of spring fashions. Mrs. Anthony Erena was narrator and Mrs. John Hill supplied background music.

Co-chairmen of the affair were Mrs. Edward Whaley and Mrs. George Dennis. The refreshment committee was headed by Mrs. Chester Spree and Mrs. James Little assisted by Mrs. Rodney Williams, Mrs. Forrest Prindle, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Raymond Meyers, and Mrs. Harold Davis. Mrs. John Strittar was chairman of the fashion show. Mrs. Edwards as nursery chairman took care of 15 children during the afternoon.

Proceeds from the event will go toward the YWCA Centennial gift fund.

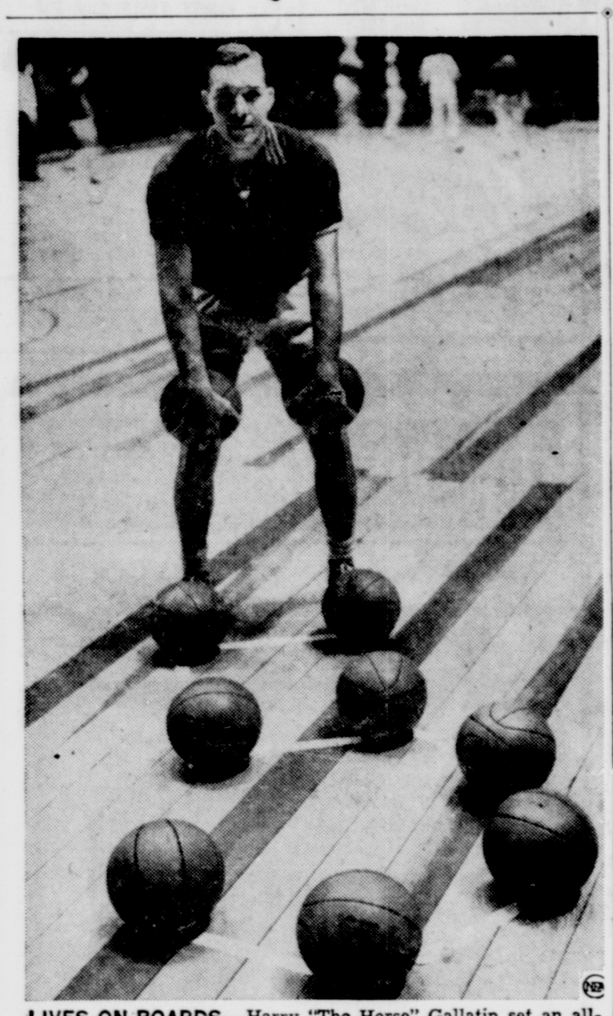
Bobo Olson Now Gunning For Joey Maxim at Frisco



LIVES ON BOARDS—Harry "The Horse" Gallatin set an all-time professional basketball mark when he appeared in his 500th straight contest with the New York Knickerbockers. He hasn't missed a game, exhibition, playoff or regular season, since joining the New York club from Northeast Missouri State Teachers College. (NEA)

Slices Up Jones In Gory 10 Rounds

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

Chicago, Feb. 17 (AP)—Middleweight champion Bobo Olson, after slicing up Ralph "Tiger" Jones, is going big game hunting.

His first quarry will be battle-wise Joe Maxim, former light heavyweight champion, at San Francisco April 13.

Maxim, who must shed 21 pounds to make the 175 limit for the fight, is on a timetable that Olson's manager, Sid Flaherty, hopes will lead to a crack at Archie Moore's lightheavy title.

OLSON CARRIED the most weight of his career, 168 pounds, against Jones, 161, last night at Chicago Stadium and treated a national television audience and 6,221 ringside customers to a masterful performance in the non-title 10-round bout.

Jones, who a month ago in the same ring defeated Sugar Ray Robinson handily, was gradually broken down by the champion's sharp, slashing counter punches.

By the third round, the "Tiger"—gamely trying to carry the fight to Olson with a lively pace from the opening bell—was bleeding from the nose.

BY THE FOURTH round, there was blood from a cut on his right eyelid. By the sixth, another gash near the same place bled profusely until the end.

It was a gory finish.

Judge Frank McAdams and Referee Frank Gilmer gave Olson all 10 rounds, the former scoring it 100-78 and the latter 100-86. Judge John Bray saw it 99-87 for Olson.

"Olson will punch holes in Maxim," said Flaherty. "After Maxim we have Moore's title in mind. Olson will weigh 168 or 169 for Maxim."

Olson, unmarked, said he felt stronger at 168 "but maybe I was faster at 160 and not as easy a target."

"JONES IS on top of you all the time," he added. "He is strong and has a big heart. But he never hurt me."

After Jones had four stitches taken over his eye, he conceded Bobo was "the toughest fighter I've ever met."

"But he only hurt me once, and that was in the 10th when he landed a good body blow," he continued. "He hit me low a few times and got away with a couple of backhanded punches. He didn't hit me as hard as (Joey) Giardello, but he is stronger and would beat him if they met.

"As for Olson meeting Maxim, it might be a dull fight with two counter punchers in there."

The net gate was $16,450 and Olson's take, including a $4,000 TV fee, was $8,935, although Flaherty said he had "an outside agreement" for more than that. Jones pocketed a total of $7,290.

Philly Warriors Edge Royals 98-96

(By The Associated Press)

The Philadelphia Warriors edged the Rochester Royals 98-96 last night at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., in the only NBA League game played. The Warriors won at Toledo Monday night and were victorious at Buffalo on Tuesday.

And, although it's getting a bit repetitious, the same teams will clash again tonight at New Haven to conclude their four-game road tour.

Last night Philadelphia put on a fourth period rally to nip the Royals. The Warriors entered the final quarter trailing by 12 points and then proceeded to outscore Rochester 32-18 to pull out the verdict.

ST. AUGUSTINE, FLA.—Bill Goodloe of Valdosta, Ga., shot a five-under-par 67 to lead the qualifiers for the national tournament of golf club champions.

National Hockey Lead at Stake

(By The Associated Press)

First place in the National Hockey League will be up for grabs tonight when the Detroit Red Wings, on top by one point, visit the runnerup Montreal Canadiens.

Montreal had pulled away during the past few weeks while the Wings, aiming for their seventh straight title, slumped. But Detroit charged back with three victories to regain first place Tuesday. The Canadiens, meanwhile, have dropped two in a row, scoring but two goals.

IN ANOTHER game scheduled tonight, the red-hot Boston Bruins play Chicago and a victory over the Black Hawks will put them only two points out of third place.

The Bruins tied the New York Rangers 2-2 last night to extend their unbeaten streak to nine games. This equals the season's high set by Toronto earlier in the season.

Boston staged a comeback after second period goals by Pete Conacher and Danny Lewicki, his 27th, had put the Rangers ahead 2-0.

Blaik Loses Dietzel To Louisiana State

3rd Aide to Go In Two Months

West Point, Feb. 17 (AP)—Army's Earl Blaik watched another of his football assistants move upstairs today—Paul Dietzel to Louisiana State University—, provoking the West Point coach to comment wryly:

"This is getting a bit monotonous."

Monotonous it is—and certainly discouraging, too—for the brilliant Army grid tactician who in the last seven years has lost ten valuable aides to head coaching posts—three of these in the last two months.

"At first it was a little flattering that the colleges cared so much for our coaches but the situation is mightly rough on us at the Point.

"IT MEANS we are forced to hold coaching school for the coaches every fall before we can hold football practice. As soon as we get a man broken in as an assistant, it seems he's gone."

Other Army assistants who have moved to head jobs since the last season are George Blackburn, to the University of Cincinnati, and Bobby Dobbs, to Tulsa.

But even before this year there has been a steady stream of Blaik-trained men to the big swivel chairs of top coaching posts. These included: Bob Woodruff, first to Baylor and then to Florida; Herman Hickman to Yale; Andy Gustafson to Miami (Fla.); Murray Warmath to Mississippi State and then Minnesota; Clarence (Chief) Boston to New Hampshire; Sid Gillman to Cincinnati and then the Los Angeles Rams and John Sauer to the Citadel.

"OF COURSE, we are happy to see all of these men advance," Blaik said. "We certainly would never do anything to stay in their way and we give them our highest recommendations and blessings, but that does not minimize our own problems here at the point."

Blaik said the task of adjusting a new assistant to the rather unique conditions at the service academy is far different than if the aide were moving from one college to another.

"There is no comparison between out setup and that of the normal college," the army coach said.

"OUR COACHES have an hour and a half to work with the boys, no more. There are no chances for prolonged interviews, casual get-acquainted sessions or other meetings.

"If it weren't for our brief time together on the practice field, I might go for months without seeing any of our boys although they are quartered only 100 yards or so away. Their own schedule is that rigid.

"So the big job of our coaches is to learn to conserve, or rather put into a very small package, the coaching they impart to the team. This means they have a short time to say a great deal.

"These are things our new coaches must learn before they are of value and sometimes it takes a year to get full value from them. So if we don't keep our assistants more than a year, you can see it hurts."

Adjustments Are Urged To Classify Race Horses

Albany, Feb. 17 (AP)—A group of racing secretaries at New York state harness tracks urge adjustments in the U. S. Trotting Assn's new system for classifying horses.

A. E. (Ted) Gibbons, racing secretary at Yonkers Raceway, said at a meeting of USTA's District Nine (New York state) last night that the new system did not consider the caliber of competition and other factors affecting a horse's performance.

GIBBONS, who said he spoke for the group of racing secretaries, at pari-mutuel tracks, also expressed opposition to the speed rating formula for tracks.

The new classification groups horses according to a mathematical formula and assigns speed ratings. The old system permitted racing secretaries to exercise more discretion in classifying horses.

George P. Monaghan, state harness racing commissioner, asked for opinions on the system to help the state decide whether to adopt it.

DON R. MILLAR of Columbus, Ohio, USTA executive vice president, said the new system would be tried at race meetings at Bay Meadows and Santa Anita in California and at Magnolia Park, La., prior to the USTA's mid-March meeting in Orlando, Fla. He said the adjustments would be submitted to the USTA then.

Billy Haughton of Massapequa and Elmer J. Kellam of Hancock were elected directors of District Nine. Haughton has been the nation's leading harness racing driver and money winner for the last two years.

About 250 are attending the session, which ends today.

Marquette Rips Through Bradley for 20th Victory

The Associated Press

This was supposed to be a long, hard winter for Marquette in college basketball, but, spring is bustin' out all over for the warriors.

They weren't expected to have much this season, and Coach John Nagle was pessimistic despite 10 returning lettermen. He figured they wouldn't be able to improve much on their 11-15 record of last season. That prospect seemed genuine when Marquette dropped its opener to Michigan State 91-72.

AT THAT POINT, though, Nagle (in his second year with the warriors) changed his style and gave his boys their head on the court. He's had a tiger by the tail ever since.

Marquette ripped through its 20th consecutive victory since losing the opener by pounding Bradley 93-83 last night. That gave the warriors, No. 6 in this week's Associated Press poll, a 98-point average in three games since learning of their selection as the first of nine-at-large teams for the NCAA tournament.

Bradley now is 5-16 after finishing as the NCAA runnerup last season.

THE SECOND longest streak was upped to 18 by San Francisco, No. 1 team in the nation, as the Dons whipped St. Mary's (Calif.) 65-57. Big Bill Russell, San Francisco All-America candidate, scored 24 points.

Elsewhere, third-ranked La-Salle, the NCAA champ, hohummed past Albright 89-69 with two-time All-America Tom Gola scoring 27 points. And Oklahoma A & M shook up the Missouri Valley Conference race by defeating Tulsa 62-52 in an intrafamily squabble between coaching brothers Hank and Clarence Iba.

The loss dropped Tulsa out of first place and substituted idle St. Louis.

Penn closed in on its second Ivy League title in three seasons by rallying to beat Brown 67-61 while Princeton surprised second place Columbia 53-52 with a great drive in the last 7 minutes.

Jumping Bean

Alamos in southern Sonora, Mexico, is kept alive largely through the Mexican jumping bean. Each July and August residents pick and package the world's supply of brincadores (jumpers). Joaquin Hernandez, a native of Alamos and known as the Jumping Bean King, buys almost the entire crop for export. In years when the seasonal rains arrive on schedule, 10,000,000 beans are shipped out. The beans "jump" because the larva of Carpocapsa saltitans, a gray moth, inhabits the bean and butts the inside wall with its head. The larva has 16 legs, some with small hooks. With these it catches a firm hold, raises its body, and delivers a hard blow.

Six Clerks, Two Trucks Serving Jump Store Trade

Jump's Markets, Port Ewen, founded in February, 1915, is celebrating its 40th year of service to Port Ewen and adjacent areas.

When the store was established by Calvin D. Jump 40 years ago it had one clerk and grossed less than $1,000 a month. Today six clerks are employed by Harry C. Jump, son of the founder.

In 1914 deliveries were made by a horse and wagon. Today the store, which is now being renovated and re-decorated, has two delivery trucks.

Associated with the present owner of Jump's Markets is his son, Harry C. Jump, Jr.

PRESENT RENOVATIONS include installation of a new self-service meat case, a new service case, a second frosted foods case, a refrigerated vegetable case, new shelves in the back of the store, etc. The store will be repainted in the near future.

When Calvin D. Jump acquired the store in 1914 from the widow of George B. Griffin it handled feed, dry goods and groceries—a kind of general store.

The founder's health was not too good, however, and he soon retired, selling his interest in the business to his son. The present owner cut out the dry goods and feed lines and turned the store into a general food market.

AFTER MAKING deliveries by horse and wagon for a couple of years Jump acquired one of the first automobile delivery trucks in the area—a 1916 Ford Model T.

In 1939 he expanded, acquiring the former Chris Perry Store at 329 Broadway, moving later to 350 Broadway where he built a nice business. But along came the war with three-quarters of his help gone and he found he couldn't handle both the Kingston and Port Ewen branches. He gave up the Kingston store and devoted his full attention to the Port Ewen market.

WHEN HIS SON received his discharge from the navy he joined his father in the Port Ewen market. Harry C. Jump, Jr., married the former Ruth Lapine of Port Ewen, a registered nurse.

The father, who bought the former residence of Dr. George W. Ross on Broadway, Port Ewen, is a member of the New York State Grocer's Association and the National Grocer's Association and is president of the Ulster Provisioners Cooperative Association, Inc. He is also a member of the Kingston Power Boat Association.

MODENA NEWS

Modena, Feb. 17—A food sale will be held at Van Siclen's store in Clintondale on Saturday at 2:30. Committee in charge is Mrs. Mildred Shay, Mrs. Emma Cole and Mrs. Irene Sickler.

The Rev. John E. Swords, pastor of the Modena and Clintondale Methodist Churches, will deliver a sermon on the subject, What Hope Disarmament? at regular services of worship in both churches on Sunday.

The official board of the Modena Methodist Church met Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Hasbrouck.

Burial was made in the Modena Rural Cemetery last Thursday of the 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Palmer of Dutchess county. The child was the only grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Eber Palmer, Sr., of the Ardonia section.

Plans are being made by a committee for the observance of World's Day of Prayer Friday, Feb. 25, in local churches. Mrs. Jesse Stanfield of Clintondale is the appointed chairman for the community program.

On Sunday, Feb. 27, a promotion meeting will be held in the Modena Church for pastors, church school superintendents and promotion secretaries of Sub.-dist. 5, to commence enrollment for laboratory and seminar at the New Paltz Methodist Church April 12 to May 10.

After the balmy weather of last week when local residents report seeing robins, meadow larks, etc., the initial appearance of the state and county snow plows was made, followed by sanding crews. It was reported that 32 cars were ditched on the Thruway between Newburgh and Kingston.

While collecting data for the centennial celebration of the Modena Methodist Church an interesting feature in the New Paltz Times of 1874, edited by Charles J. Ackert, established in 1860, was the following advertisement: "Sahler, Reynolds and DuBois of Kingston, N. Y., wholesale and retail dealers in all kinds of building, saddlery, carriage and hardware, farming supplies, iron, steel spokes and felloes. The largest stock of general hardware in the state. Give them a call! They are sole agents for the celebrated Greenwood's scythe and Babcock pump powder, DuPont's powder. Blasting, Mining and Sporting. Contractors, Merchants and Quarrymen will do well to give us a call before purchasing." A train schedule listed stops at Gardiner, Forest Glen, Springtown, Rosendale, Keators Corners, Whiteport and Kingston, with a special train leaving Goshen on Sunday for Kingston. J. H. Jones was general superintendent.

Modena, Feb. 17—The Republican Club of the town of Plattekill met Tuesday evening at Hasbrouck Memorial Hall in Modena when the annual election of officers was held. The entire slate was re-elected: President, Andrew Montrola, Tuckers Corners; vice-president, Edward Neuwirth, Plattekill; secretary, Mrs. Edith C. Wager, and assistant secretary, Mrs. Lee Rognon, Modena; treasurer, Eber H. Coy, Ardonia; sgt.-at-arms, Vincent J. Porcelli. Five trustees were elected: Five-year term, Vincent J. Porcelli and Hallock Harris; three-year term, Ransel J. Wager, Francis Gaffney, Harry Sutton. The following committees were appointed: Membership, Francis Gaffney, Fred Ferriuolo, Eldred A. Smith; entertainment, Fred Ferriuolo, John Klein, Mrs. Mildred Wager, Herman Dempsky, Vincent D. Porcelli; program, Mrs. Lee Rognon, Myron E. Fosler; citizenship and naturalization, Benjamin Axelrod, Eber H. Coy, Harry Sutton; publicity, Mrs. Lee Rognon, Mrs. Edith C. Wager and A. Roland Carpenter. The next meeting of the club is scheduled for Thursday, March 10, at 8 p. m. at Hasbrouck Memorial Hall. Those on the refreshment committee will be Mr. and Mrs. Hallock Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Ransel J. Wager, Mrs. Lee Rognon and Mrs. Mildred Wager.

Dulles Excepts

the Soviet government and the Communist Party.

"The time may come, I believe it will come," Dulles said, "when Russians of stature will patriotically put first their national security and the welfare of their people.

"THEY WILL BE unwilling to have that security and that welfare subordinated to the worldwide ambitions of international communism.

"If their point of view should prevail, then indeed there could be a basis for worthwhile negotiation and practical agreement between the United States and the new Russia."

The secretary did not speculate within what period of time "Rusians of stature" might seize power from those whose first dedication he said, is to "international communism."

Dulles said the demotion of Georgi Malenkov as premier 10 days ago and the elevation of Nikolai Bulganin to succeed him provided "an extraordinary demonstration of despotic disarray."

"The prime minister of the Soviet state," he said, "was peremptorily summoned to a high Soviet session in the Kremlin and subjected to the public humiliation of hearing another read his resignation and his confession of 'my guilt.'"

The full significance of what happened is still obscure, Dulles said, and "perhaps the last act of the drama has not yet been played."

Stepping Stone

Six men have used the office of Secretary of State as a stepping stone to the Presidency of the United States: Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, John Quincy Adams, Van Buren, and Buchanan.

Gene Autry Show will be with Gene and Annie Oakley.

The program, which runs two hours, is for adults as well as children, Kalish said, adding, "We expect full houses for the two shows."

The matinee is scheduled for 4 p. m. and the night show at 8 o'clock. The price of tickets will be announced in the near future.

Autry sings his new and old song hits in the show, and puts Champion and Little Champ through their routine of tricks.

Annie Oakley, crack shot expert, will show how she handles her weapons.

PAT BUTTRAM, cracked voiced comedian, probably will go into the same mixed up situations as he does in the TV show with his jeep Nelly Belle.

"He's always good for a laugh, even when he's punching it out with Williams," said Kalish, "and we know he'll be just as entertaining here."

THE REST of Melody Ranch Gang is made up of the Cass County Boys, singing trio; Carl Cotner and Melody Ranch Orchestra; the Strongs, bullwhip and rope trick stars, surrounded by dancers, singers, acrobats, clowns and other entertainers.

"We booked the attraction," Kalish said, "because the Gene Autry Hit show has been acclaimed as the finest on the road."

Six Firemen Feared Killed

Baltimore, Feb. 17 (AP)—A tumbling wall of a burning downtown clothing store trapped and apparently killed six firemen today.

Two bodies were recovered. It appeared it would take some time to reach the other four.

The men were trapped as they battled a 9-alarm fire in a building on East Baltimore street.

Rescuers tunneled from the west side and said part of a wall had to be removed from the east side before they could get to a pile of debris in which the four missing firemen were believed buried.

Removed from the wreckage hours after the collapse was the body of Battalion Chief Francis P. O'Brien. Also dead was Lt. William Barnes.

Missing were firemen Joseph Hanley, Richard Malzer, Rudolph Machovec and Anthony Reinsfelter.

The fire was in a three-story building housing the Tru-Fit Clothes Co. Sixty-nine pieces of fire apparatus was called out to fight the blaze. At least 20 firemen were injured in the blaze, which burned out of control for more than three hours. Cause of the blaze has not yet been determined. No damage estimate was available.

Seven and a half per cent of the U. S. population is over 65.
